RESOLUTION.—By the Government of India, Home Department.

No. 558.—The following correspondence regarding the restriction of the growth of the Indian Medical Service and the employment of medical practitioners recruited in India, is published for general information :—

INDIA OFFICE, LONDON,

9th August 1907.

Military,

No. 137.

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor General of India in Council.

MY LORD,

I desire to invite the attention of Your Excellency's Government to Lord George Hamilton's despatches, Military, no. 5, 18th January 1900, and Public, no. 157, 13th December 1900. In the closing paragraph of the last despatch my predecessor observed : " It would be of such a great benefit to India generally that medical men should establish themselves in private practice in the country in the same way as they do in other parts of Her Majesty's Empire without entering the medical service connected with the army, that I am unwilling to accept proposals based upon the assumption that sufficient medical qualification will never be found in or elsewhere outside the Indian Medical Service. " I am not aware that this part of my predecessor's despatch has ever formed the subject of a communication from the Government of India, but I am confident that the policy indicated in it will generally have the hearty support of Your Excellency as it has mine. I shall be glad to be informed whether any steps have yet been taken to give effect to that policy, and whether any further measures are in contemplation for promoting the growth of an independent medical profession in India.

I have the honour to be,

MY LORD,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble servant,

JOHN MORLEY.

No. 20, dated Simla, the 20th August 1908.

From—The Government of India, Home Department,

To—The Right Honourable VISCOUNT MORLEY of BLACKBURN, O.M., His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

WE have the honour to refer to Your Lordship's despatch no. 137 (Military), dated the 9th August 1907, regarding the measures which have been taken or are in contemplation for promoting the growth of an independent medical profession in India. We desire, in the first place, to explain why we have not replied at an earlier date. Last year we addressed local Governments on the subject of creating appointments of medical officers of health in both urban and rural areas, and we suggested that these posts should, whenever possible, be filled by Indian medical men outside the Indian Medical Service. We felt that the reception given to this proposal would assist us in replying to the despatch, but as only one local Government has as yet favoured us with its opinion, and as we learn that Your Lordship desires an early expression of our views, we proceed to state the general conclusions at which we have arrived.

2. We are in entire sympathy with the desire to promote the growth of an independent medical profession in India, and we recognise the important bearing upon this question of Lord George Hamilton's suggestion that advantage should be taken of the creation of new medical appointments to provide for the admission of independent practitioners either to the new appointments or to some of the posts which are regarded as reserved for members of the Indian Medical Service. One essential restriction, however, upon any reduction of the numbers of that service is that its strength must always be sufficient to meet the medical requirements of the Indian army. In order that it may do this effectually it is necessary that it should include a large reserve of officers whose services would be available on the outbreak of war; and as a measure of economy these reserve officers must in peace time be employed on civil duties. It appears, however, from inquiries we have made, that about one-third of the officers holding these civil posts could not be spared for military duty even in the event of an emergency so grave as to require a general mobilization of the army in India. To the extent of about one-third, therefore, the officers in civil employ do not form any part of the real war reserve, and there would be no military objections to the transfer to independent practitioners of the civil appointments held by them.

3. We have accordingly to consider whether there are objections on other grounds to such a transfer. The posts referred to include certain administrative offices which must continue to be held by senior members of the Indian Medical Service. They also include some of the more important of the civil surgeoncies, superintendentships of lunatic asylums, appointments in the Assay Department, the Chemical Analysers' Department and the Bacteriological Department, and about half the professorial appointments in the various medical colleges. With regard to the last mentioned appointments it has been urged that any large reduction in the number of such posts reserved for members of the Indian Medical Service would seriously diminish the attractiveness of that service and produce a deterioration in the quality of the candidates. We admit that this argument would have considerable force if it were contemplated to deprive the Indian Medical Service of the full number of these appointments at one stroke, but there is no possibility of qualified candidates being forthcoming at present for more than a very small proportion of them, and we do not anticipate that the exclusion of these few posts will have any appreciable effect upon recruitment. By the time that a larger number of qualified candidates is forthcoming it is probable that the number of medical schools and professorial chairs will also have increased, and there will, therefore, be no difficulty in retaining for the Indian Medical Service a proportion of prize appointments sufficient to maintain its attractiveness.

4. The attainment of the object which Your Lordship and ourselves alike have in view depends, then, upon the possibility of finding in this country medical practitioners qualified to hold the appointments which could be thrown open to them. There would undoubtedly be no difficulty in securing the services of private practitioners who are qualified to fill the less important civil surgeoncies, but unfortunately these are just the appointments in which the war-reserve officers of the Indian Medical Service can most suitably be employed, and the transfer of these surgeoncies from that service might, therefore, cause some embarrassment and lead to increased expenditure. For the more important appointments of civil surgeon, the bacteriological and other special posts, and the professorial chairs, very few qualified candidates could at present be found. It is in our opinion of the highest importance and essential to the growth of a really efficient independent medical profession that the present high character of the instruction given in the medical colleges in India should be maintained unimpaired. Any diminution of efficiency in that direction would go far to defeat the object in view, and would most certainly retard the more general employment of independent practitioners. Subject, however, to this essential condition of efficiency we are quite willing to appoint such practitioners to professorial posts whenever fully qualified candidates are forthcoming. And we shall also be prepared to appoint qualified medical gentlemen outside the ranks of the Indian Medical Service to other posts which are not required for the employment of the war-reserve of medical officers.

5. We desire to impress upon Your Lordship the excellent work which has been and is being done by the medical schools in India. The majority of the students who pass through those schools do already take to private practice, and in this way an independent medical profession is gradually being created. The general average of attainments of these men is not, it is true, equal to that of the officers of the Indian Medical Service, but each generation of students is better than its predecessors, and provided nothing is done to lower in any way the standard of instruction given in the medical colleges, there is every reason to hope that this progressive improvement will be maintained.

6. Your Lordship will observe that in the preceding paragraphs we have considered the question only with reference to the general medical profession in India. We have done so because we consider that it is an essential condition of the introduction of any scheme for the gradual opening of civil medical appointments now reserved for the Indian Medical Service to the general medical profession that qualified candidates should be available among the natives of this country or the domiciled community. The appointment of English medical men recruited in England would lead to serious practical difficulties, as these gentlemen would require leave to England in the same way as members of the Indian Medical Service, and, if we did not form a leave reserve of men similarly recruited, we should find ourselves in an embarrassing position when they were granted leave. Further, to recruit medical practitioners in England and form a leave reserve would in effect be to create a second medical service, which would doubtless put forward claims to be treated in precisely the same way as the Indian Medical Service, and which would do nothing to promote the growth of an independent medical profession in this country. If European medical officers are required for any particular appointment or class of appointments they can, in our opinion, most advantageously be supplied by the Indian Medical Service.

7. We desire to remark incidentally that we anticipate that difficulties may arise from the appointment of independent medical practitioners to particular posts, such as civil surgeoncies. Owing to the multiplicity of gratuitous services which are demanded of civil surgeons, it is quite possible that, if private practitioners are appointed, patients entitled to such services may not infrequently complain of neglect. At present it is comparatively easy to deal with such complaints, but when the civil surgeon is not a member of a particular service, and so liable to transfer, but an independent practitioner permanently resident in the station, it will be difficult, if the complaints prove to be well-founded, to provide any adequate remedy short of his removal from office, and his replacement either by another independent practitioner, if one is available, or by an officer of the Indian Medical Service. These difficulties, however, are not, we believe, insuperable, and they will tend to diminish with the increase in the number of practitioners who are qualified to hold such appointments and anxious to obtain them.

8. In conclusion, we desire to repeat the considerations which in our opinion must govern any advance in the direction indicated in Your Lordship's despatch, viz., (1) that the advance should be very gradual and tentative and in the main, though not exclusively, from the bottom, (2) that it should be made only as really qualified candidates become available in India, (3) that nothing should be done to lower the efficiency of the medical schools and their hospitals, (4) that a sufficient number of civil appointments be reserved to provide for the economical employment of the war-reserve of the Indian Medical Service, and (5) that, in determining what these appointments should be, the necessity of maintaining the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service should be borne in mind. When Your Lordship has placed us in possession of your views upon our proposals we shall address local Governments upon the whole subject, and in due course communicate to you the result of our further consideration of the points discussed with them.

INDIA OFFICE, LONDON,
11th December 1908.

Military.
No. 225.

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General of India in Council.

MY LORD,

In connection with Your Excellency's despatch in the Home Department no. 20, dated 20th August 1908, I have given consideration in Council to the question whether further steps can be taken to promote the growth of an independent medical profession in India by throwing open to the profession in general some of the various civil appointments now held by officers of the Indian Medical Service and other similar appointments which may be created in future.

2. I observe with satisfaction that your Government are in accord with the object I have in view. As regards the means to be adopted for attaining that object, I concur generally in the principles laid down at the end of your despatch, and shall be glad to learn, after you have received and considered the opinions of the local Governments, what measures you can propose in order to give effect to them.

3. Since 1899 successive Secretaries of State have drawn attention to the objections to indefinite extension of the cadre of the Indian Medical Service for the purpose of providing for miscellaneous appointments for which that Service, though it may offer well qualified candidates, is not the only, and may not be the most economical, source of supply. Notwithstanding the necessity for restriction, the cadre of the Indian Medical Service has in recent years continued to increase, and, apart from other objections, its further increase would be likely to cause serious difficulties in the matter of recruiting. I have consequently decided that the time has now arrived when no further increase of the civil side of the service can be allowed, and when a strong effort should be made to reduce it by gradually extending the employment of civil medical practitioners recruited in India.

4. Your Excellency's Government will consider what appointments can best be filled in this way. If there should be any particular posts requiring special qualifications, for which suitable persons, whether trained in Indian colleges or holding European medical degrees, be they European, Eurasian, or Indian, cannot be obtained in India, it will be necessary to seek candidates from this country.

5. When it is found impossible to obtain a man from outside the Indian Medical Service to fill a particular new civil appointment, or one which has not previously been so filled, I will not object for the present to that service being drawn upon; but the vacancy so caused must be filled from outside it, i.e., no appointment must be made in succession which would involve an addition to the cadre of the Indian Medical Service.

I have the honour to be,
MY LORD,
Your Lordship's most obedient, humble servant,
MORLEY OF BLACKBURN.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 20th May 1909, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The cyclonic storm which was to the west of Diamond Island on the 13th May travelled in a northeasterly direction and crossed the Arakan coast to the south of Kyaukpyu on the night of the 14th. It broke up rapidly, and had practically disappeared by 8 hrs. on the 15th. It gave heavy rain over the whole of Burma with the exception of the northern districts.

Very little rain occurred in northeast India on the day the storm was approaching the Arakan coast, but on its disappearance rainfall increased and during the remainder of the week occurred in all parts of that division. Bihar and Chota Nagpur were the only areas in northeast India where the rainfall of the week was in defect.

In other parts of the country rainfall was local and generally light in amount, Mysore being the only division in which it was in excess.

Temperature conditions were fairly normal except for a large deficiency in Upper Burma caused by the heavy rain. The highest temperature reported was 117° at Jacobabad.

Burma.—Rain fell in all parts of the province. It was heavy in the districts to the south of Mandalay during the passage inland of the storm from the Bay. Skies were heavily overcast on the 14th and 15th and were lightly clouded on the remaining days. Temperature was normal except during the rainfall accompanying the storm when it was in large defect in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—All stations except Sambalpur received rain, but it fell chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was normal or in defect.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Light falls of rain were reported from Chakrata, Muktesar, Meerut, Agra, Pachmarhi and Hoshangabad. Skies were clear or lightly clouded. Temperature was fairly normal.

Northwest India.—Sonemarg, Murree, Rawalpindi, Simla and Delhi had light falls of rain. Skies were clear except in Gujarat and the hill districts of upper India. Temperature was normal or in defect.

The Peninsula.—Scattered falls of rain occurred, chiefly in south India. Skies were heavily overcast over a large area on the 14th, but on the remaining days they were clear or only lightly clouded. Temperature differed by only small amounts from the normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day :—

May 14th. Tavoy 2·60", Rangoon 3·63", Maymyo 2·55", Bogra 4·54", Darjeeling 3·50" and Mysore 2·60".

„ 15th. Tavoy ·93", Moulmein 3·18", Bassein 2·30", Kyaukpyu 4·05", Thayetmyo 2·95", Minbu 4·75", Yamethin 3·55" and Monywa 2·43".

The defect in the seasonal rainfall shown a week ago in Upper Burma and Eastern Bengal has disappeared and rainfall in those divisions is now practically normal. On the other hand the large excess shown in the Central Provinces and the peninsula has decreased considerably.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 15th May 1909.

Burma.—The rainfall during the week was general and mostly heavy, chiefly along the coast. Clearing of hill sides for rice cultivation has practically been completed and sowing has commenced in places. Reaping of spring rice continues and harvesting of miscellaneous crops is almost finished. Ploughing for early monsoon crops has begun in parts. Standing crops are in good condition. The price of unhusked rice has fallen considerably in Akyab and slightly at three centres; it has risen slightly at two centres.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Every district except Bakarganj has received more rain. The temperature has fallen somewhat especially in Assam. Lakhimpur requires more sun; but in parts of the Rajshahi Division more rain is wanted for rice and jute. Weeding of jute and autumn rice is in progress in most of the plain districts. Planting of sugarcane continues in Assam. In the hills, sowing of cotton and other crops is almost finished. Prospects of all crops are favourable except that of tea in Lakhimpur. The average price of common rice is nearly one per cent higher than last week. The number of persons employed on test relief works is:—Dinajpur 1,352; Bogra 948; and Rangpur 794; total 3,094. Cattle disease is prevalent in several districts.

Bengal.—Rain fell during the week in all districts except Gaya, Bhagalpur, Puri, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Palamau and Singhbhum. In Darjeeling and Cooch Behar the fall was heavy; in other districts it was light. More rain is wanted in parts of Burdwan, Midnapore, Howrah, Jessore and Darbhanga. Preparation of lands for autumn crops is in progress. Sowing of jute, paddy and other autumn crops continues in most parts of the province. In parts of Jessore and Burdwan sowings have ceased through want of rain and owing to the same cause early sown makai is withering in Patna. There was a cyclone in Purnea on the 16th instant which destroyed the mango crop completely and did considerable damage to property. Some cattle were killed and loss of human life has also been reported. The price of common rice has risen in Birbhum, Bankura, Patna, Monghyr, Puri, Manbhum and Cooch Behar and has fallen in the 24-Parganas, Bhagalpur, the Sonthal Parganas, Sambalpur and Palamau. Cattle disease is reported from several districts. Fodder is reported to be insufficient in parts of Jessore, Gaya and Monghyr. Water is still scarce in parts of Jessore, Gaya and Darbhanga and in the north of the Sonthal Parganas. 1,433 persons attended test works in Muzaffarpur and Bhagalpur and 46,863 persons were on famine relief works in Darbhanga. 37,668 persons were gratuitously relieved in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Puri and Palamau.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—District Darbhanga—Workers exclusive of dependants 46,863; on gratuitous relief—(a) dependants of workers 14,233; (b) poorhouses or kitchens 2,914: and (c) village doles or other relief 13,924; total gratuitously relieved 31,071. Grand total on relief 77,934. The numbers on works show a further increase. Agricultural operations are in progress but more rain is wanted. Labourers are returning to relief works. Workers are in good condition. No general emaciation is noticeable and there is no wandering. Prices 12 seers per rupee.

United Provinces.—The week was practically rainless. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops are nearing completion in parts of Dehra Dun. The outturn is reported to be poor. Sowings of cotton have commenced in places. Standing crops are in good condition. Cattle disease is reported from twenty-six districts but agricultural stock are generally in good condition. Supplies of fodder and water are adequate. Prices are rising in fifteen districts; are falling in five; and are stationary elsewhere.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The condition of persons relieved is fairly good in Basti and good elsewhere. Crime is normal. Figures for civil works and gratuitous relief have not yet been received from the remote parts of Garhwal but the distress there is slight and is not increasing. Relief works are nowhere being freely resorted to in this district. Distress is slight in Basti but is increasing in Bahraich. Land is being prepared for autumn crops in Gwalior, Bhopal, Malwa and Bhopawar. Agricultural stock are satisfactory except for some cattle disease in Bhopal, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices are rising in Gwalior and Bundelkhand; are falling in Indore; and are high but stationary elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues warm and occasionally cloudy with high winds. Slight showers of rain fell in Balaghat, Raipur, Saugor and Damoh. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops still continue in parts of Mandla, Seoni, Betul and Chhindwara. Construction of field embankments and preparation of land for the sowing of the next autumn crops are in full swing. Double-cropped rice in Chanda and sugarcane in Bhandara and Raipur are in good condition. Fodder and water are sufficient throughout the provinces except in a part of Damoh where fodder is getting dear, and in Hoshangabad and a few villages of Nimar where water is getting scarce. Lands are being prepared everywhere for the next autumn sowings. Cattle disease and fodder scarcity are reported in eight and twelve talukas respectively. Prices:—wheat 6⅞; coarse rice 6⅞; and juar 14¼ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 12 seers per rupee. Yellow juar is not available. Bangalore, the 26th July 1905.

GENERAL AND REVENUE SECRETARIAT.

SIR,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated the 25th April 1905 as well as Mr. D. J. Tata's letter of the 5th May last, representing again that the Mysore Government grant to Mr. Tata's Indian Institute of Research is insufficient and requesting for an increase. In reply, I am to state that the Government of Mysore consider that the facts and figures now furnished in your letter go to show that the estimate of expenditure made by Sir William Ramsay and Professor Masson and Colonel Clibborn do not include all the items to be provided and that they are in some cases under estimate also. At the same time, it is found that in their letter of the 28th February last to the Bombay Government, the Government of India have stated that the endowments yield annually Rs. 1,25,000 and that this amount with the Mysore grant of Rs. 30,000 and the Government of India grant of Rs. 77,500 (total Rs. 2,32,500) is sufficiently liberal for the present purposes of the Institute. In the same paragraph the Government of India have also expressed themselves willing to raise their contribution to 1½ lacs of rupees as other assets increase. In these circumstances the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore consider that it is enough to raise the Mysore grant from Rs. 30,000 to Rs. 50,000 per annum, and they are accordingly pleased to offer this latter amouut, provided no further increase is asked for or expected, and the location of the Institute is in Ban galore.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

(Sd.) B. K. VENKATA,

Secretary.

GENERAL AND REVENUE SECRETARIAT.

SIR,

Adverting to your letters dated the 31st July and 15th December 1905, regarding the time during which the Mysore grant to the Indian Institute of Research is tenable, I am directed to state that the annual grant of Rs. 50,000 is without any limit of time, but is contingent upon the location of the Institute in Bangalore as already intimated in the letter of the 7th August 1905 addressed to you by the Dewan of Mysore.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

for Secretary.

SCHEDULE F.

OFFICE OF THE DEWAN OF MYSORE,

Dated Bangalore, 16th November 1901.

From—H. V. NANJUNDAYYA, ESQ.,

Secretary to the Government of Mysore,

General and Revenue Department,

To—B. J. PADSHAH, ESQ.,

Honorary Secretary,

Provisional Committee for the Institute of Research.

SIR,

I am directed to acknowledge your letter dated 13th November 1901, and to thank you for conveying the information that Professor Masson and Colonel

Clibborn have authorised you to say that any plan they might suggest will not depart from the principles laid down by Professor Ramsay in his report, and that their plan will lose sight neither of the industrial aspects of Scientific research nor the duty of linking Scientific research with the special problems which the surroundings of the Institute, whatever its home, naturally offer for solution.

2. I send herewith a plan of the site. You will find that the extent is 371 acres and 11 guntas of which 37 acres and 24 guntas are now under occupation and will be acquired if needed for the purposes of the institute. This, it may be observed, is the first time that the site to be handed over to the Institute has been located definitely and it is satisfactory that Colonel Clibborn and Professor Masson found the land acceptable both on account of its position and the other advantages which it commands. This site together with the buildings to be constructed thereon will be absolutely at the disposal of the Provisional Committee, and of the governing body of the Institute, so long as the purposes for which the grant is made are being substantially fulfilled.

3. With regard to the question of transferring jurisdiction to the Government of India, I am to state that this matter will form the subject of a communication to the Honourable the British Resident in Mysore, along with the share which should be reserved to the Government of Mysore in the management of the Institution.

4. The sum of five lacs will be provided for building as soon as the arrangements to start work are completed; and the Government would go further and undertake to get the work done under the superintendence of its public works officers according to properly approved plans, if such a course would be considered an additional help.

5. Concerning the request for an annual grant for maintenance, Government have already placed you in possession of their views, and would communicate again on the subject after learning the results of further development of the scheme, and the final shape that it would assume under the sanction of the Government of India.

In conclusion, I am to assure you of the continued interest of the Mysore Government in the success of the scheme, which they trust will soon be inaugurated on a satisfactory basis.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

(Sd.) H. V. NANJUNDAYYA,

Secretary.

SCHEDULE G.

Extract from letter from the Government of India to the Government of Bombay, No. 156, dated 28th February 1905.

5. The question of the financial resources immediately available for starting the Institute is examined in paragraphs 15 to 18 of my letter of 1st May 1903. The Government of India then undertook (in addition to the annual grant of £2,000 which they had already promised) to contribute for a period of ten years any further sum that might be required to make up, together with the Mysore grant, one-third of the current expenditure of any year subject to a maximum of £5,000. It was subsequently explained that the Government of India grant would take either of the following forms according as the Provisional Committee might elect, but that the election once made would hold good for the term of ten years—

(a) an annual grant for ten years equal in amount to the Mysore grant, but subject to a maximum of Rs. 50,000, or

(b) a grant in each of the ten years equal to one-third of the total expenditure of the year less Rs. 30,000, subject to a minimum of Rs. 30,000, and a maximum of Rs. 45,000.

It was added that no expenditure upon travelling fellowships could be included in the total expenditure of the year. Liberal as was the aid thus promised, the Government of India, after personal consultation with Mr. Dorabji J. Tata, have now reconsidered the matter, and have agreed to increase it substantially. Rule 6 of the grant-in-aid code for schools and colleges in Bombay lays down that a Government grant-in-aid shall in no case exceed half of the local assets or one-third of the total expenditure of an institution during the previous official year. Applying this rule to the statement of sums available for current expenditure given in paragraph 16(2) of my letter of 1st May 1903 the Government of India are willing to regard as local assets the sum of Rs. 1,25,000 derived from the endowment properties and the grant-in-aid of Rs. 30,000 promised by the Mysore Durbar, in all Rs. 1,55,000; and to make a grant-in-aid of one-half of this sum, or Rs. 77,500 being the maximum admissible under the rule cited above. This will be given without limit of time, subject merely to the condition that the scheme of management of the institution is approved as regards its general principles by the Government of India, and is conformed to by the governing body of the Institute. They are further willing to raise their contributions from time to time, as the local assets available increase by endowments or contributions, provided that the amount of the grant shall not exceed one-half of the local assets and shall be subject to a maximum of Rs. 1,50,000. The term "local assets" will be limited to permanent contributions from private individuals or Native States based upon assignments of capital funds, and will not be held to include subsidies from Local Governments or occasional subscriptions of a temporary character. The immediate effect of this concession will be that the Institute will have available for the purpose of its operations a working income of Rs. 2,32,500 as compared with Rs. 1,75,000 mentioned by Sir William Ramsay in the report referred to in my letter of 1st May 1903 as the minimum sum required for an adequate commencement. It is believed that with an assured income of this amount the governing body will be in a position to procure the most competent teachers of the subjects dealt with in the Institute, to retain their services for long periods, and to found research scholarships for the encouragement of students. They will in fact be able to carry on their operations on a scale commensurate with the high aims which the founder of the endowment is believed to have had in view.

6. The initial expenditure accepted by the Provisional Committee of the Institute as sufficient to provide the buildings and fittings required is stated in paragraph 15 of my letter of 1st May 1903 to amount to Rs. 6,57,600. Towards this the Mysore State have undertaken to contribute Rs. 5,00,000, and have promised to allow their Public Works Department to assist in designing and constructing the buildings. In May 1903 the Government of India expressed their willingness to contribute a sum of Rs. 1,00,000. They have now decided, following the analogy of the grant-in-aid rule quoted above, to offer a contribution of one-half of the Mysore grant of Rs. 5,00,000. Thus the governing body of the Institute will at once have at their disposal Rs. 7,50,000 for the purpose of constructing buildings estimated to cost Rs. 6 57,000.

R., dated the 14th August 1902, as amended by the Notification in that Department No. 5202-Exc., dated the 15th August 1904, and by the Notifications in this Department No. 523, dated the 10th March 1905, and No. 1351-7, dated the 21st February 1906, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules for the identification of sugar chargeable with an additional or special duty imposed under sub-section (1) of the said sections, respectively, and for the assessment and collection of such additional or special duty, namely :—

RULES.

1. For the purposes of these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, "Customs-port," "Chief Customs authority," "Customs Collector," "owner" and "public warehouse" have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the Sea Customs Act, 1878 (VIII of 1878).

2. Where any sugar is imported into any Customs-port, the owner shall declare to the Customs Collector in what country such sugar was produced, and shall furnish him with such other information as may be necessary to enable him correctly to assess the additional or special duty (if any) chargeable under sub-section (1) of section 8-A or 8-B, respectively, of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894 (VIII of 1894).

3. (1) Where the information required by rule 2 is not furnished, the Customs Collector shall deposit and detain the sugar in such part of the Custom house premises as he may deem suitable.

(2) The owner of any sugar deposited and detained under sub-rule (1) may, at any time, clear such sugar on payment of the additional or special duty leviable thereon and of the other charges payable to the Customs Collector, whether for wharfage-fees or otherwise, in respect of the same.

(3) For the purposes of sub-rule (2) and for the purpose of calculating the surplus payable to the owner under section 88 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the additional or special duty leviable upon any sugar deposited and detained under sub-rule (1) shall, if the information necessary for the correct assessment of the additional or special duty leviable thereon has not been furnished, be assessed at such rate not exceeding the highest rate of additional or special duty leviable upon any class of sugar as the Governor-General in Council may, by general or special order, fix in this behalf.

4. The Customs Collector may accept the information required by these rules in any form which he may consider sufficient; and he shall accept it if given in the form and manner hereinafter prescribed.

5. Where sugar is imported into any Customs-port from a bonded warehouse in the United Kingdom, or, being refined sugar, has been imported on payment of duty into the United Kingdom and exported thence without drawback to any Customs-port, the owners shall furnish the Customs Collector with a certificate in Form A.

6. Where refined sugar, having passed through a refinery in the United Kingdom, is imported from the United Kingdom into any Customs-port, the owner shall furnish the Customs Collector with a certificate in Form B.

7. (1) In the case of any sugar—

(a) which, though nominally imported into the United Kingdom, has merely passed through a port in the United Kingdom in transit to be re-exported thence to any Customs-port in the same or another bottom ; or

(b) which has been imported into any Customs-port from any country other than the United Kingdom ;

the owner shall furnish the Customs Collector with one of the following documents, namely :—

(i) where the sugar was produced in the country from which it was exported either to the United Kingdom or direct to India, a certificate by the exporter or shipper in Form C ;

(ii) where the sugar was produced in a country other than that from which it was exported either to the United Kingdom or direct to India, a certificate by the shipper or exporter in Form D.

(2) Where any sugar referred to in sub-rule (1) has been exported from a port in any country other than the United Kingdom or any British Possession to the United Kingdom or to any Customs-port, the certificate shall be attested by the British Consular Officer at the port in such country.

(3) Where, in any case referred to in sub-rule (2), the British Consular Officer so desires, the certificate shall have been approved and communicated to him by a local Chamber of Commerce.

(4) Where in any case referred to in sub-rule (2), the sugar is alleged to be the produce of a country which is a party to the Brussels Sugar Convention of 1902, a certificate granted by a duly authorised Customs Officer of that country as to the origin of the sugar shall be accepted as sufficient proof of its origin.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

EDUCATION.

Establishment of the Indian Institute of Science.

Nos. 434—448.

Simla, the 27th May 1909.

RESOLUTION.

THE Indian Institute of Science owes its origin to the foresight and munificence of Mr. Jamsetjee Nusserwanjee Tata, who some time in 1896 conceived the idea of vesting in Trustees certain houses and landed property in the city of Bombay representing a capital of thirty lakhs of rupees, in order that the net income, estimated at about Rs. 1,25,000, might be applied towards the endowment of a Research Institute for India. The proposal was discussed in England and in India; a Provisional Committee presided over by the Vice-Chancellor of the Bombay University was nominated by Mr. Tata to promote it; and it was laid before Lord Curzon by a deputation, which waited upon him on 31st December 1898, the day after he had landed in Bombay. It was first brought officially to the notice of the Government of India towards the end of March 1899. The scheme then assumed the form, stated to be provisional, of an Imperial Teaching University, destined to promote original investigations in all branches of learning and to utilise them for the benefit of India, and empowered to confer degrees on Indian graduates who completed their studies with credit, and to select the best students for further training in Europe and America. The subjects proposed for research were distributed, according to the original plan, among three departments :—

(1) a Scientific and Technical Department, embracing Physics and all branches of Chemistry, including its application to Agriculture, Arts, and Industry,

(2) a Medical Department dealing with Bacteriology, Hygiene, and Physiological and Bacteriological Chemistry ; and

(3) a Philosophical and Educational Department, including methods of Education, Ethics and Psychology, Indian History and Archæology, Statistics and Economics, and Comparative Philology.

This comprehensive course of studies was to be taught by a large staff of highly qualified professors selected by a committee of experts in England, and the scheme contemplated the provision of laboratories, museums, libraries and scientific apparatus on a liberal scale. The initial outlay was estimated at Rs. 13,10,000, subsequently raised to 15 lakhs, and the annual cost of maintenance, after the Institution had been fully equipped, at Rs. 3,00,000 or £20,000. To meet these requirements the only resources available were Mr. Tata's endowment of thirty lakhs, the capital of which could not be spent, while the income of a lakh and a quarter, which it was estimated to yield, covered less than half of the estimated recurring expenditure, made no provision for scholarships and fellowships, and was burdened by certain further obligations. The Provisional Committee therefore asked for an expression of the general approval of the Government of India in order to enable them to collect funds throughout India in support of the objects of the University.

2. The careful examination of the scheme then undertaken disclosed that it contemplated legislation by the Government of India to empower the proposed University to undertake for all time the management of numerous houses and tenements in Bombay, valued at about sixty lakhs of rupees, under an obligation to devote half of the income to the purposes of the University, and to distribute the other half among certain relatives of Mr. Tata and their descendants in the male line. On grounds of public policy, Lord Curzon's Government were unable to accept the proposal to combine with the institution of a University the creation of a private settlement in perpetuity. Mr. Tata was accordingly informed that, while fully conscious of the generous spirit which animated his offer of thirty lakhs towards the endowment of a Research Institute and of the general utility of the scheme subject to certain modifications, the Government of India had nevertheless been reluctantly compelled, after consulting the Secretary of State, to come to the conclusion that they could not accept the offer so long as it was accompanied by the condition of a family settlement. In August 1899 Mr. Tata acquiesced in this decision and agreed to offer the University endowment "free from any stipulation as to personal or family advantage." The Government of India suggested to him that he should consult the Provisional Committee, and submit a definite scheme for carrying out the purposes of his endowment, revised in the light of opinions and criticisms which he had received. He was asked to consider whether the original scheme was not too ambitious, and whether it might not be proceeded with so far as funds permitted, leaving further development and perfection to come with the growth of income. Finally, with the object of clearing up doubtful points and bringing matters to an early conclusion, he was invited to discuss the revised scheme personally with the Government of India, either in Simla or Calcutta as might be most convenient to him. Accordingly in October 1899 Mr. Tata met at Simla a small Conference of educational experts from all parts of India, presided over by Sir Thomas Raleigh. This Conference defined the general principles to be kept in view in launching the scheme; they pronounced in favour of its gradual development; they considered the question of site and recommended Bangalore; they drew up a Bill to incorporate an "Indian Research University" endowed with the immovable properties offered by Mr. Tata, and they asked the Government of India to express a favourable opinion on the scheme and to give a promise of the necessary legislation, so that an appeal might be made to the public for funds and the details of the scheme definitely settled. In a resolution of 17th November 1899, the Government of India published the principal papers relating to the scheme for general information, and recorded their views on the subject in the following words:

"The Government of India accept the recommendation of the Conference, and they desire to place on record their appreciation of the generosity and public spirit displayed by Mr. J. N. Tata in making his munificent offer of an endowment for the proposed University of Research.

They are confident that the proposed University will meet a great need, and will contribute to the advancement of higher education and the development of the resources of the country. They will be ready to proceed to legislation as soon as the scheme has been matured in all its details, and they wish the undertaking every success."

At the same time the Government of Bombay were asked to nominate an officer to arrange with Mr. Tata for the transfer of the property with which he proposed to endow the University.

3. In order to secure competent guidance in maturing the scheme, the Provisional Committee invited Professor Sir William Ramsay of University College, London, to come out to India to advise them as to the lines to be followed. Sir William Ramsay spent two months in India during which time he visited a number of educational and technical institutions, made a variety of enquiries bearing on the question of encouraging research, and wrote an interesting report on the subject referred to him. He was much impressed by the points of doubt indicated by Lord Curzon to the deputation which waited on him in December 1898, namely:—

(1) whether qualified students would come to the Institute to be trained in scientific methods, and

(2) whether, when such students had been trained, any posts would be available for their subsequent employment.

As to the first point, Sir William Ramsay found that students would not come of themselves to undergo training in research, but must be attracted by the offer of liberal scholarships of Rs. 40 or Rs. 50 a month. In regard to the second he satisfied himself that there was "no outlet for scientifically trained men in India," and that employment could only be provided for the students by embarking on the large and highly speculative enterprise of creating new industries, in which they should hereafter take part as proprietors, managers, scientific consultants, or operatives. His scheme accordingly contemplated, not only the teaching of General Chemistry, Engineering Technology, Electric Technology combined with General Physics, and Industrial Bacteriology, but also the development of new industries by means of experimental works to be started in connection with the Institute by the members of the teaching staff assisted by the students. He recommended the location of the Institute at Bangalore, not merely on grounds of climate and because the Mysore Government had offered a convenient site, but also because the locality was advantageously situated with reference to the distribution of the various natural products which the Institute would set itself to develop. Lord Curzon's Government were of opinion that the idea of combining in one institution, and entrusting to a single staff of Professors, both the teaching of science and the experimental development of new industries, was open to the obvious criticism that these two objects were in no way connected with one another, and might indeed be regarded as almost irreconcilable. The former requires the speculative faculties of the student; the latter depends for its success on the practical instincts of the man of business. For this reason, and also on financial grounds, the Government of India were unable to accept Sir William Ramsay's scheme. They deprecated starting work on too large a scale, and they deputed Professor Masson of Melbourne and Lieutenant-

Colonel Clibborn, Principal of the Rurki College, to draw up a less ambitious plan susceptible of expansion according to circumstances.

4. In December 1901 Professor Masson and Colonel Clibborn submitted their report to the Provisional Committee. They recommended that the Institute should be devoted to experimental science, and should aim at training students in experimental methods, carrying on original research, and discharging the functions of an accepted authority and referee on all scientific problems arising within its own domain. With these general objects it was to be divided into three distinct schools, each with its own building and equipment—a school of Chemistry, a school of Experimental Physics, and a school of Experimental Biology in which physiological and bacteriological work would be done. They put aside as impracticable Sir William Ramsay's proposal that the Institute should attempt to found and develop new industries. As regards the site, they stated the arguments for Bangalore and Rurki respectively, and expressed a decided opinion in favour of Rurki, provided that land and money for the buildings could be obtained without encroaching on the sum prescribed by Mr. Tata. They contemplated an initial expenditure of Rs. 6,57,600 on buildings and equipment and an annual outlay of Rs. 1,50,000, which might be raised to Rs 1,65,750 by fixing the salaries of the professors at higher rates. Subject to the consideration of certain points of detail, the Provisional Committee expressed their general approval of the report and recommended it to "the most favourable consideration of the Government of India." They forwarded an extract of a letter from the Mysore Government offering to place at the disposal of the Committee a site of 371 acres at Bangalore, promising a contribution of five lakhs of rupees for buildings, and undertaking to have the work done under the supervision of their Public Works Department officers, and intimating that a further communication would be made on the subject of an annual grant. In view of these concessions the Committee were strongly in favour of the location of the Institute at Bangalore. On the 19th February 1902 the Government of India accepted the opinion of the Provisional Committee on all the larger questions raised in the report, and undertook to communicate with the Mysore Durbar as to the terms on which the land should be occupied. The point was settled in May 1902 by the Mysore Government undertaking to cede jurisdiction over the site proposed for the Institute on the terms which regulate the administration of the Civil and Military station of Bangalore. Two months later the Mysore Durbar informed the Provisional Committee of their decision to give the Institute an annual grant of Rs. 30,000 for a period of ten years. Lord Curzon's Government undertook to grant a subsidy of a similar amount, thus raising the income of the Institute to Rs. 1,85,000, a sum exceeding the highest estimate framed by Sir William Ramsay.

5. The question then remained of determining the value of the Tata properties, as to which there had been some difference of opinion between Mr. Tata and the officers of the Bombay Government who had been deputed to examine the properties. Lord Curzon's Government suggested that this question should be referred by the Bombay Government to a single arbitrator of high position, who should be empowered to call in at his discretion, for advisory purposes only, two assessors, one of whom would be nominated by Mr. Tata, the other being selected by the arbitrator himself after Mr. Tata's nomination had been made. It was explained that when the values had been finally determined it would rest with Mr. Tata to make an application under the Charitable Endowments Act, assigning for the purposes of the Institute properties representing a net income, after all costs of management, repairs, insurance, etc., have been met, of Rs. 1,25,000 a year, and asking that a scheme might be settled for the administration of these properties in such a manner as to secure the stability of the income guaranteed by him. In August 1903, Mr. G. R. Lowndes, Barrister-at-Law, was appointed as arbitrator by the Bombay Government, and in May 1904 the well-devised proposals framed by him were submitted to the Government of India. His award on the question of value showed that the eighteen properties devoted to the purpose of the Institute might be counted on to yield an income of Rs. 1,25,000, subject to certain technical conditions which the award laid down, and it was further stated that Mr. Tata had undertaken to guarantee an additional income sufficient to secure that the income derived from the properties in question should never fall below that amount. Mr. Lowndes further proposed that the management of the endowment properties should be entrusted to Mr. Tata or his representatives, that it should be controlled by a Board of three members, on which Mr. Tata and the Government would be represented; and that this Board should be quite distinct from the governing body of the Institute itself.

6. When the correspondence had reached this stage, and the proposals stated above were under consideration, the Government of India were informed of the death of Mr. J. N. Tata. In the Home Department letter of the 1st of June 1904 they expressed their feelings of regret and sympathy at the loss of so eminent and philanthropic a citizen and enquired what would be the effect of his death on the scheme for founding an Institute of Science initiated by him. In reply they received from Mr. R. J. Tata the generous assurance that Mr. Tata's sons were prepared to carry out the wishes of their father with regard to the Research Institute.

7. So far then as the endowment properties were concerned the difficulties had been removed. A competent body of experts had pronounced these properties to be worth Rs. 1,25,000 a year, the value originally assigned to them by the late Mr. Tata; a guarantee fund had been provided to maintain the income at this level; and a satisfactory method of management had been discovered. Lord Curzon's Government were thus placed in a position to formulate, in a more definite shape than had hitherto been possible, their intentions as to the settlement of the further questions which arose in connexion with the formation of the Institute. In February 1905 they accepted Mr. Lowndes' valuation of the properties which it was proposed to assign for the purpose of the endowment. They also agreed to his proposal relating to the guarantee fund, and they accepted his scheme for the management of the properties, subject to the condition that the Chairman of the Board of Management should be such officer resident in Bombay as the local Government might from time to time appoint. They further undertook to increase substantially the aid to be given by the Government of India. Rule 6 of the grant-in-aid code for schools and colleges in Bombay lays down that the Government grant-in-aid shall in no case exceed half of the local assets, or one-third of the total expenditure of an institution during the previous official year. Applying this rule to the case of the Institute, the Government of India proposed to regard as local assets the sum of Rs. 1,25,000 derived from the endowment properties and the grant-in-aid of the Mysore Durbar, now raised to Rs. 50,000 without limit of time, in all Rs. 1,75,000; and to make a grant-in-aid of one-half of this sum, or Rs. 87,500, being the maximum admissible under the rule cited above. This was to be given without limit of time, subject merely to the condition that the scheme of management of the Institute was approved as regards its general principles by the Government of India, and was conformed to by the governing body of the Institute. They further agreed to raise their contribution from time to time, as the local assets available increased by endowments or contributions, provided that the amount of the grant should not exceed one-half of the local assets, and should be subject to a maximum of Rs. 1,50,000. The term "local assets" was to be limited to permanent contributions from private individuals or Native States based upon assignments of capital funds, and was not to include subsidies from local Governments or occasional subscriptions of a temporary character. The immediate effect of this concession was to make available to the Institute for the purpose of its operations a working income of Rs. 2,62,500, as compared with Rs. 1,75,000 mentioned by Sir William Ramsay as the minimum sum required for an adequate commencement. Lord Curzon's Government believed that with an assured income of this amount the governing body would be in a position to procure and retain for long periods the most competent teachers of the subjects dealt with in the Institute, and to found research scholarships for the encouragement of students. As regards initial expenditure the Government of India decided to offer a contribution of one-half of the Mysore grant of Rs. 5,00,000, thus placing at the disposal of the governing body of the Institute Rs. 7,50,000 for the purpose of constructing buildings estimated to cost Rs. 6,57,000.

8. Up to this time it had been assumed that special legislation would be required for the purpose of constituting the Institute and providing for its administration. On further consideration, however, it appeared to Lord Curzon's Government that, in view of the novel and experimental character of the undertaking, and the uncertainties attending its working during the first few years of its existence, it would be undesirable to tie the hands of the governing body by a statutory provision which could only be altered by again having recourse to the legislature. Accordingly they proposed to provide for the administration of the Institute by means of a scheme under the Charitable Endowments Act, 1890 (VI of 1890), which was intended to deal with educational projects, and which makes special provision in section 5 (2) for the modification from time to time of any scheme settled under the Act. The general principles to be borne in mind in framing such a scheme were discussed and stated, and the Messrs. Tata were requested to draw up proposals for giving effect to them.

9. Towards the end of November 1905, the Messrs. Tata represented that the settlement of the remaining details of the project would be materially facilitated if a Director of the Institute were appointed as soon as possible; and at their instance the Government of India moved the Secretary of State to enlist the assistance of the Royal Society in nominating a candidate for the appointment. As a result of this reference Dr. Morris W. Travers, F.R.S., Professor of Chemistry at University College, Bristol, was appointed to be the first Director. Dr. Travers arrived in India in the middle of November 1906. Since then he has been busily occupied in maturing the scheme, in consultation with the Government of India and the Messrs. Tata, on the lines of the precedents furnished by some of the more modern English Universities. The academic organization of the Institute has been worked out, involving the establishment of six departments in pure and applied science; the professors of electro-technics and applied chemistry have been selected, with the assistance of a Committee of the Royal Society, and have begun to organize their departments; plans of the buildings have been drawn up, and work has commenced on the foundations, the water-supply and drainage, and the line supplying electric power from Bangalore. These operations have been facilitated by the appointment, at the instance of the Messrs. Tata, of a Provisional Committee* to conduct the affairs of the Institute pending the promulgation of the scheme for the management of the properties and funds, which has been delayed by reason of the complicated covenants and conveyances that have to be executed. While the Institute is under construction the income accruing from various sources will be applied to the completion of the buildings and equipment.

Mr. V. P. Madhava Rao, C.I.E., Dewan of Mysore.
Mr. H. F. Bhaba, Director of Public Instruction, Mysore

The amount which the Council will have immediately at their disposal for initial expenditure includes building grants of 5 lakhs and 2½ lakhs respectively from the Government of Mysore and the Government of India, and a further grant of 1½ lakhs, to be spread over three years, from the Government of Madras. In addition to this sum of 9 lakhs, there are accumulated savings from the income of the Institute during the past two years, amounting to about 4 lakhs; and it is anticipated that there will be further considerable savings out of the income up till such time as the Institute is in full working order. The income of the Institute will also be increased to more than Rs. 2,65,000 by the interest from a sum of over half a lakh which the Messrs. Tata have added to the endowments, representing the proceeds of the Bombay properties for a part of the year 1907.

10. The following is a brief outline of the administrative arrangements which are set out in schedule H of the Vesting Order made under the Charitable Endowments Act. His Excellency the Viceroy will be ex-officio Patron of the Institute, and the heads of the local Governments of India will be Vice-Patrons. There will also be—

(a) A Court of Visitors on which the Government of India, the Government of Mysore and the Messrs. Tata and their heirs will each be represented by two members, the Messrs. Tata themselves being members during their lives. The Director-General of Education in India, the Directors of Public Instruction to the local Governments, and the Director and the Professors of the Institute will be ex-officio members. The Patron may appoint six members, and the Vice-Patrons one member each. The Senates of the Indian Universities may each appoint one representative and the Council may appoint as members ten representatives of science and learning in India. Donors of capital sums of not less than Rs 2,00,000 and contributors of not less than Rs. 15,000 annually for five years will be entitled to nominate members of the Court.

(b) A Council of twelve consisting of the Director and four Professors of the Institute, together with representatives of the Government of India, the Government of Mysore, and of each of the Messrs. Tata, and three nominees of the Court of Visitors.

(c) A Senate consisting of the Director and the Professors ex-officio, with power to co-opt Assistant Professors and Readers.

(d) A Standing Committee of the Court of Visitors, consisting of four members of that body appointed by the Patron, by the Government of India, by the Government of Mysore, and by the Messrs. Tata respectively.

The Council will be the executive body of the Institute, its proceedings being subject to review by the Standing Committee of the Court of Visitors. This Committee will have the power of reporting to the Patron on the acts or proposals of the Council and the Patron may refer such report to a special committee and may afterwards make such order as may be necessary. The Senate will deal with all matters of an academic nature, so as to reduce to a minimum discussion on purely technical matters at meetings of the Council. The administration of the endowment properties in Bombay will be in the hands of a Board of Management which will be entirely independent of the governing bodies of the Institute itself. The Board will meet in Bombay, and will pay the income received from the endowment properties to the Council, to which body it will also render annual accounts.

11. With the ample resources now at their disposal the governing body of the Institute will be able to carry on their operations on a scale commensurate with the high aims which the founder of the endowment had in view. The prospects of the scheme may in fact be looked upon as assured, and the occasion is a fitting one for the Government of India to explain the policy by which their present action is dictated, and the attitude which they purpose to adopt towards the future development of the Institute. While sympathizing cordially with the far-reaching ideals of its promoters, the Governor General in Council has no desire to associate himself intimately with the actual administration of the Institute, or to claim a determining voice in the settlement of the lines of research to be followed and the methods of instruction to be employed. He is, indeed, ready to assist in furthering by all legitimate means the great undertaking which owes its origin to the generous philanthropy of the late Mr. Tata, and has since his death been wisely and liberally promoted by his sons. But he realizes that the results of the experiment that is now about to be tried will depend less upon the conditions of the project itself than upon the character and energy of those who may come forward to take advantage of the facilities for advanced studies which it will offer. The Government of India are anxious in no way to interfere with the free growth of whatever forms of intellectual activity and economic enterprise the Institute may encourage or create, and they will therefore confine themselves strictly to exercising no more than that degree of influence and control which is justified, and indeed rendered obligatory, by the substantial grant-in-aid which they have determined to contribute.

SCHEDULE E. Collectively.

No. 1046 / Ed. (90-04)-11

From—B. K. VENKATA VARADA IYENGAR, Esq.,
Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Department,

To—B. J. PADSHAH, Esq.,
Honorary Secretary,
Provisional Committee for the Indian Institute of Research,
Bombay.

Bangalore, the 26th July 1905.

GENERAL AND REVENUE SECRETARIAT.

SIR,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated the 25th April 1905 as well as Mr. D. J. Tata's letter of the 5th May last, representing again that the Mysore Government grant to Mr. Tata's Indian Institute of Research is insufficient and requesting for an increase. In reply, I am to state that the Government of Mysore consider that the facts and figures now furnished in your letter go to show that the estimate of expenditure made by Sir William Ramsay and Professor Masson and Colonel Clibborn do not include all the items to be provided and that they are in some cases under estimate also. At the same time, it is found that in their letter of the 28th February last to the Bombay Government, the Government of India have stated that the endowments yield annually Rs. 1,25,000 and that this amount with the Mysore grant of Rs. 30,000 and the Government of India grant of Rs. 77,500 (total Rs. 2,32,500) is sufficiently liberal for the present purposes of the Institute. In the same paragraph the Government of India have also expressed themselves willing to raise their contribution to 1½ lacs of rupees as other assets increase. In these circumstances the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore consider that it is enough to raise the Mysore grant from Rs. 30,000 to Rs. 50,000 per annum, and they are accordingly pleased to offer this latter amount, provided no further increase is asked for or expected, and the location of the Institute is in Bangalore.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

(Sd.) B. K. VENKATA,

Secretary.

To—B. J. PADSHAH, Esq.,
Honorary Secretary,
Provisional Committee for the Indian Institute of Research,
Bombay.

Bangalore, dated the $\frac{26th}{28th}$ December 1905.

GENERAL AND REVENUE SECRETARIAT.

SIR,

Adverting to your letters dated the 31st July and 15th December 1905, regarding the time during which the Mysore grant to the Indian Institute of Research is tenable, I am directed to state that the annual grant of Rs. 50,000 is without any limit of time, but is contingent upon the location of the Institute in Bangalore as already intimated in the letter of the 7th August 1905 addressed to you by the Dewan of Mysore.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

for Secretary.

SCHEDULE F.

OFFICE OF THE DEWAN OF MYSORE,

Dated Bangalore, 16th November 1901.

From—H. V. NANJUNDAYYA, ESQ.,

Secretary to the Government of Mysore,

General and Revenue Department,

To—B. J. PADSHAH, ESQ.,

Honorary Secretary,

Provisional Committee for the Institute of Research.

SIR,

I am directed to acknowledge your letter dated 13th November 1901, and to thank you for conveying the information that Professor Masson and Colonel Clibborn have authorised you to say that any plan they might suggest will not depart from the principles laid down by Professor Ramsay in his report, and that their plan will lose sight neither of the industrial aspects of Scientific research nor the duty of linking Scientific research with the special problems which the surroundings of the Institute, whatever its home, naturally offer for solution.

2. I send herewith a plan of the site. You will find that the extent is 371 acres and 11 guntas of which 37 acres and 24 guntas are now under occupation and will be acquired if needed for the purposes of the Institute. This, it may be observed, is the first time that the site to be handed over to the Institute has been located definitely and it is satisfactory that Colonel Clibborn and Professor Masson found the land acceptable both on account of its position and the other advantages which it commands. This site together with the buildings to be constructed thereon will be absolutely at the disposal of the Provisional Committee, and of the governing body of the Institute, so long as the purposes for which the grant is made are being substantially fulfilled.

3. With regard to the question of transferring jurisdiction to the Government of India, I am to state that this matter will form the subject of a communication to the Honourable the British Resident in Mysore, along with the share which should be reserved to the Government of Mysore in the management of the Institution.

4. The sum of five lacs will be provided for building as soon as the arrangements to start work are completed; and the Government would go further and undertake to get the work done under the superintendence of its public works officers according to properly approved plans, if such a course would be considered an additional help.

5. Concerning the request for an annual grant for maintenance, Government have already placed you in possession of their views, and would communicate again on the subject after learning the results of further development of the scheme, and the final shape that it would assume under the sanction of the Government of India.

F

In conclusion, I am to assure you of the continued interest of the Mysore Government in the success of the scheme, which they trust will soon be inaugurated on a satisfactory basis.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

(Sd.) H. V. NANJUNDAYYA,

Secretary.

SCHEDULE G.

Extract from letter from the Government of India to the Government of Bombay No. 156, dated 28th February 1905.

5. The question of the financial resources immediately available for starting the Institute is examined in paragraphs 15 to 18 of my letter of 1st May 1903. The Government of India then undertook (in addition to the annual grant of £2,000 which they had already promised) to contribute for a period of ten years any further sum that might be required to make up, together with the Mysore grant, one-third of the current expenditure of any year subject to a maximum of £5,000. It was subsequently explained that the Government of India grant would take either of the following forms according as the Provisional Committee might elect, but that the election once made would hold good for the term of ten years—

(a) an annual grant for ten years equal in amount to the Mysore grant, but subject to a maximum of Rs. 50,000, or

(b) a grant in each of the ten years equal to one-third of the total expenditure of the year less Rs. 30,000, subject to a minimum of Rs. 30,000, and a maximum of Rs. 45,000.

It was added that no expenditure upon travelling fellowships could be included in the total expenditure of the year. Liberal as was the aid thus promised, the Government of India, after personal consultation with Mr. Dorabji J. Tata, have now reconsidered the matter, and have agreed to increase it substantially. Rule 6 of the grant-in-aid code for schools and colleges in Bombay lays down that a Government grant-in-aid shall in no case exceed half of the local assets or one-third of the total expenditure of an institution during the previous official year. Applying this rule to the statement of sums available for current expenditure given in paragraph 16 (2) of my letter of 1st May 1903 the Government of India are willing to regard as local assets the sum of Rs. 1,25,000 derived from the endowment properties and the grant-in-aid of Rs. 30,000 promised by the Mysore Durbar, in all Rs. 1,55,000; and to make a grant-in-aid of one-half of this sum, or Rs. 77,500 being the maximum admissible under the rule cited above. This will be given without limit of time, subject merely to the condition that the scheme of management of the institution is approved as regards its general principles by the Government of India, and is conformed to by the governing body of the Institute. They are further willing to raise their contributions from time to time, as the local assets available increase by endowments or contributions, provided that the amount of the grant shall not exceed one-half of the local assets and shall be subject to a maximum of Rs. 1,50,000. The term "local assets" will be limited to permanent contributions from private individuals or Native States based upon assignments of capital funds, and will not be held to include subsidies from Local Governments or occasional subscriptions of a temporary character. The immediate effect of this concession will be that the Institute will have available for the purpose of its operations a working income of Rs. 2,32,500 as compared with Rs. 1,75,000 mentioned by Sir William Ramsay in the report referred to in my letter of 1st May 1903 as the minimum sum required for an adequate commencement. It is believed that with an assured income of this amount the governing body will be in a position to procure the most competent teachers of the subjects dealt with in the Institute, to retain their services for long periods, and to found research scholarships for the encouragement of students. They will in fact be able to carry on their operations on a scale commensurate with the high aims which the founder of the endowment is believed to have had in view.

6. The initial expenditure accepted by the Provisional Committee of the Institute as sufficient to provide the buildings and fittings required is stated in paragraph 15 of my letter of 1st May 1903 to amount to Rs. 6,57,600. Towards this the Mysore State have undertaken to contribute Rs. 5,00,000, and have promised to allow their Public Works Department to assist in designing and constructing the buildings. In May 1903 the Government of India expressed their willingness to contribute a sum of Rs. 1,00,000. They have now decided, following the analogy of the grant-in-aid rule quoted above, to offer a contribution of one-half of the Mysore grant of Rs. 5,00,000. Thus the governing body of the Institute will at once have at their disposal Rs. 7,50,000 for the purpose of constructing buildings estimated to cost Rs. 6,57,000.

If in any Session the Council has in view any such extraordinary expenditure for the next Session, it shall at once communicate the same to the Standing Committee with such particulars as may be necessary so as to give the Standing Committee sufficient time to consider the same and if need be to report thereon to the Patron before such expenditure shall be made. 44. None of the provisions of this Scheme shall at any time hereafter be added to altered or varied during the lives of the said Dorabjee Jamsetjee Tata and the said Ruttonjee Jamsetjee Tata without their consent or during the life of the survivor of them without his consent or after the death of such survivor and during the life of the person appointed by such survivor to nominate representatives on the Standing Committee of the Court of Visitors as provided in clause 35 without the consent of such person.

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 27th May 1909, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Normal hot weather conditions prevailed during the week. Rainfall occurred chiefly in Burma and northeast India and occasional thunderstorms were reported from northwest India, the central parts of the country, south India and the north Madras coast. There was, however, less rain than usual in northeast India and Malabar. The highest temperature recorded was 116° at Jacobabad on the 24th.

Burma.—Rainfall occurred at nearly every station. Skies were moderately clouded and temperature was normal.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—On most days rainfall was comparatively light, and restricted to Eastern Bengal and Assam. No rain was reported from south Bihar. Skies were generally clear or only lightly clouded. On the first two days temperature was in defect and during the rest of the week it was approximately normal.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Light rain fell at Bahraich, Agra, Muktesar, Hoshangabad, Jubbulpore and Seoni. Skies were clear or only lightly clouded, and temperature was normal except for a defect at night in some parts of the division.

Northwest India.—Most stations in Kashmir and a few places in the Punjab and Rajputana received rain. Skies were cloudy in the hill districts, and towards the end of the week moderately heavy cloud appeared in Gujarat, Sind and Baluchistan. Temperature was normal or in defect.

The Peninsula.—Only a few falls of rain occurred, chiefly in south India. Skies were clear or lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was approximately normal.

The following summarises the most important rainfall amounts, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

May 21st. Rangoon 1·88", Chittagong 2·08", Gulmarg 2·01" and Sonemarg 1·76".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 22nd May 1909.

Burma.—The rainfall during the week was practically general and mostly moderate. Sowing of hill side rice and ploughing for early sesamum and cotton are extending. Ploughing for early autumn rice has commenced in places. Standing crops are on the whole in good condition. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably at three centres and slightly at three others; it has fallen slightly at one centre.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Most districts have had more rain during the week. The temperature continues low in Assam. More sun is required in Lakhimpur for tea. Prospects of crops are fair. Plucking of tea is in progress. Harvesting of early potato has commenced in the Khasi Hills. Weeding of jute and autumn rice continues in the plains. The average price of common rice is practically the same as last week. The number on test relief works has fallen to 522 in Dinajpur, to 64 in Bogra, and to 699 in Rangpur; total 1,285. 2,082 persons in Dinajpur and 80 in Rangpur received gratuitous relief. Cattle disease is prevalent in several districts.

Bengal.—Rain fell during the week in all districts except in South Bihar, and in Monghyr, Sambalpur and Palamau. The fall was heavy in parts of Burdwan, Midnapore, Nadia, Jessore and Cooch Behar, elsewhere it was light. More rain is wanted in parts of Midnapore and Bhagalpur. Sowings of jute and paddy are in progress. Preparation of lands for early monsoon crops continues but progress in this respect is being retarded for want of moisture in parts of Darbhanga and Monghyr. The outturn of mahua has been good. Sugarcane and vegetables are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Midnapore, Saran, Balasore and Sambalpur, has fallen in Jessore, Patna and Shahabad and has been stationary elsewhere. Cattle disease is reported from Burdwan, Midnapore, Nadia, Jessore, Patna, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Angul, Puri and Sambalpur and from the Bhagalpur and Chota Nagpur divisions, Darjeeling and Singhbhum excepted. Fodder is insufficient in Jessore, Monghyr and the Sonthal Parganas. The water supply is still scarce in parts of Murshidabad, Monghyr and the Sonthal Parganas The number of persons on test works in Muzaffarpur and Bhagalpur was 845, while 43,118 were employed on famine relief works in Darbhanga. 37,452 persons were gratuitously relieved in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Puri and Palamau.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—District Darbhanga—workers exclusive of dependants 43,116; on gratuitous relief (a) dependants of workers 14,324; (b) poorhouses or kitchens 2,622, and (c) village doles or other relief 14,463; total gratuitously relieved 31,409. Grand total on relief 74,525. The numbers on works show a decrease principally in the Madhubani sub-division due chiefly to rain and consequent work in the fields. Distribution of takavi loans is nearing completion. These loans have given great impetus to agricultural operations. More rain is wanted. Workers are in fair condition. No general emaciation is noticeable and there is no wandering. Prices 12 seers per rupee.

United Provinces.—Slight showers of rain fell during the week in a good many districts. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops has practically been completed. Sugarcane and extra crops are being irrigated. Fields are being prepared for autumn sowings. Standing crops are in good condition. Supplies of fodder and water are adequate except in a part of Bahraich. Cattle disease is reported from twenty-three districts but agricultural stock are generally in good condition. (a) Including Native States within provincial boundaries.

The provinces to which this memorandum relates commonly contain 99·7 per cent of the reported area under wheat in India.

Certain comparisons are made between the figures in the present memorandum and those relating to the crop of 1907-08; but it must be uniformly borne in mind that that crop was an exceptionally bad one.

The sowing of the crop under examination was conducted under difficulties except in the Central Provinces and Berar, in the North-West Frontier Province and in Sind. The Panjab suffered from excessive rain at sowing time, while in the United Provinces, Bombay Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam the moisture was deficient. In the Central Provinces the winter rains were fairly well distributed and in the North-West Frontier Province and parts of Bengal they were not unfavourable. Elsewhere they were in defect and development of the crop was retarded. Heavy and untimely rain fell over large tracts in [illegible] third week of April, when the crop in many places had been cut. Where it was [illegible] on the threshing floor considerable damage was done; but in parts of the Panjab where the harvest is late the damage was slight, while in the North-West Frontier Province the crop was still in a state to benefit by the moisture.

The total area comes to 25,836,800 acres which is 3,030,600 acres or 13·3 per cent above the figure for 1907-08, but 2,299,500 acres or 8·2 per cent below the average of the preceding five years. The total outturn is estimated at 7,580,800 tons as compared with 6,104,200 tons for 1907-08, an increase of 1,476,600 tons or 24·2 per cent. It is, however, less than the average of the preceding five years by 1,184,200 tons or 13·5 per cent.

The area sown in British India is 20,229,100 acres, which exceeds the previous year by 2,163,400 acres or 12 per cent, and the outturn is computed at 6,385,[illegible]0 tons which is larger by 1,197,600 tons or 23 per cent than in 1907-08.

In the Native States the area has increased by 867,200 acres or 18·3 per cent to a total of 5,607,700 acres, and the outturn by 279,000 tons or 30·5 per cent to a total of 1,195,200 tons.

The following is a summary of the provin[illegible]ports. The figures in brackets following the name of each province, indicate [illegible] percentage of the total area under wheat in India is ordinarily cultivated in that [illegible]; the ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage in the province is also stated.

Panjab (29·5%. [illegible] of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 51·6%).—The total area sown in British [illegible]stricts is reported to be 7,805,000 acres (4,007,900 acres irrigated) [illegible] compared [illegible] 7,187,300 acres (4,353,000 irrigated) last year—an increase of 8·6 [illegible] cent. [illegible]g to generally heavy rainfall during the monsoon there was an abundance of [illegible]ture for wheat sowings. Operations were, however, seriously hampered by a [illegible] general outbreak of malarial fever. In the Salt Range, there was a further difficulty on account of the heavily saturated condition of the soil. The winter rains were most disappointing; the falls were light and local until February 20th and 21st when a fairly general fall was received. But there was no further precipitation of any importance until April 19th when a week's wet weather set in. This rain was extremely untimely and caused some damage in the eastern half of the province where most of the wheat had been cut and a large portion was on the threshing floor. Little or no harm was done in the Central and South-West Panjab, as the harvest had only just begun and the greater part of the crop was standing. In the Salt Range where the harvest does not commence until the first week in May, the crop benefited to some extent. For the whole province, the total loss resulting from this rain is estimated to be below 5 per cent. There was thus excessive rain before sowing and at harvest time, and too little during the period of growth. The latter defect was, however, very largely counteracted by the abundance of soil moisture left by the monsoon. The total outturn, after allowing for the damage caused by the April rainfall, is estimated at 2,723,100 tons which is 22·5 per cent more than last year (2,222,800 tons), but 9·4 per cent less than the quinquennial average. Native States report a total area of 1,079,000 acres and a gross outturn of 334,200 tons as compared with 1,084,500 acres and 265,700 tons last year.

United Provinces (26·4%. Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage =51·3 per cent).—The total area sown amounts to 5,674,700 acres compared with 4,405,700 acres last year—an increase of nearly 29 per cent. Compared with the average of the preceding five years the present year's area shows a decrease of some 21 per cent. Moisture was insufficient in many places and irrigation was extensively resorted to for sowings. November and December were rainless. The winter rains were insufficient. March was dry throughout the plains; but heavy rain fell in all districts during the third week of April. In the eastern half of the province, where harvesting operations began early in March, little or no damage to the grain was caused by the rain; but in the western half where harvesting commenced about a month later some damage was done to the crop on the threshing floors. The total yield is estimated at 2,132,000 tons compared with 1,675,000 tons last year—an increase of 27 per cent.

Central Provinces and Berar (12·1%. Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage= 0·8%).—The total area sown is reported to be 2,780,800 acres (2,469,850 in the Central Provinces and 310,950 in Berar) as compared with 2,714,800 acres (2,427,900 in the Central Provinces and 286,900 in Berar) last year—an increase of 2·4 per cent. Conditions at sowing time were generally favourable and germination was on the whole successful. In December the rainfall was fairly well distributed though light in certain districts. January was practically dry. The rainfall in February was normal and was accompanied by hail. The winter showers, though scanty, were very beneficial. Frost, cloudy weather and hail, however, damaged the crop somewhat in places. The total yield is estimated at 693,500 tons (637,900 in the Central Provinces and 55,600 in Berar) as against 188,600 tons (155,200 in the Central Provinces and 33,400 in Berar) for last year—an increase of 42 per cent. Two Native States (Khairagarh and Rajnandgaon) report a total area of 86,600 acres and an outturn of 22,200 tons compared with 86,800 acres and 18,400 tons last year.

Bombay (6·7%. Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 11·2 %).—The British [illegible]ts report a total area of 1,116,400 acres compared with 1,262,400 acres last year—a de[illegible] of 0·6 per cent. The Native States (including Baroda) report 483,800 acres as against 415,300 acres last year—an increase of 16 per cent. Rain for sowing was generally deficient. In Gujarat there was hardly any rain after August, but the crop throve fairly well except in places. In Kathiawar the crop was damaged by frost but it has improved since. In the Deccan and Karnatak September rains were ample, but the October fall was scanty and there was practically no rain afterwards. The crop in light soil therefore withered more or less. Elsewhere the crop is fair. The total yield is estimated at 357,800 tons (170,800 in British districts and 187,000 in Native States) as compared with 336,200 tons last year—an increase of 6·4 per cent.

Bengal (4·8 °/₀).—The total area sown is reported to be 1,255,200 acres compared with 1,003,100 acres last [illegible]—an increase of 25 per cent; but it falls short of the five years' average by some 4 per cent. Owing to drought which prevailed from the second week of October the full normal area could not be sown. The showers received in the end of January and also in February were benefici[illegible] but they were scanty in Bihar, where the crop is most important, and the crop in the un[illegible]ted tracts of North Bihar was badly affected. The yield is estimated at 319,800 tons ag[illegible]—299,200 tons last year—an increase of 7 per cent, but it is less than the five years' average b[illegible] early 24 per cent.

North-West Frontier Province (3·6 °/₀. Ra[illegible] of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 25·8°/₀).—The area sown amounts to 1,019,500 acres compa[illegible] with 977,700 acres last year—an increase of 4·3 per cent. Conditions at sowing time were favour[illegible] owing to timely and well distributed monsoon rains. November was practically dry. The w[illegible]nter rains were not so copious as in the previous year. The rains in January were much below th[illegible] average in most districts, and the unirrigated crops began to wither. Good and general ra[illegible] however in the third week of February, and greatly improved the condition of the standing [illegible] March and April the rainfall, though below the average, was beneficial and helped the cro[illegible] mature. Hail storms occurred in places and did some damage to the crop and affected the outturn to a certain extent. The total yield is estimated at 213,300 tons; this is the same as last year, but is about 25 per cent less than the average of preceding five years.

Sind (2°/₀. Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 87·1°/₀).—The total area is reported to be 532,800 acres (32,400 in Native States) as compared with 447,500 acres (25,600 in Native States) last year—an increase of 19 per cent, attributed to favourable inundation. The crop, however, suffered from frost in January and has yielded only a fair outturn. The total yield is estimated at 129,900 tons against 113,300 tons last year—an increase of 14·6 per cent.

Eastern Bengal and Assam (0·6°/₀).—The total area is reported to be 77,100 acres compared with 92,800 acres last year—a decrease of 17 per cent, owing to extreme drought which prevailed before the sowing season. With the exception of light showers in some localities, the drought continued during the period of growth with the result that the wheat was everywhere short in straw and light in the ear. The yield is estimated at 14,300 tons against 21,300 tons last year—a decrease of 33 per cent.

Central India (7·1 °/₀).—The total area reported is 2,024,800 acres compared with 1,675,800 acres last year—an increase of some 21 per cent. The yield is estimated at 392,600 tons against 268,800 tons last year—an increase of 46 per cent.

Hyderabad (3·6 °/₀) reports 1,098,300 acres compared with 932,900 acres last year—an increase of 17·7 per cent. The yield is estimated at 71,600 tons as against 67,200 tons last year—an increase of 6·5 per cent.

Rajputana (3·3 °/₀).—The area is reported to be 887,800 acres and the yield 198,400 tons, as compared with 603,800 acres and 132,600 tons last year—the increase being 47 per cent in area and 49·6 per cent in yield.

Mysore (0·02 °/₀) reports 1,600 acres and 200 tons compared with 2,600 acres and 600 tons last year.

Exports.—The exports of wheat from British India to foreign countries by sea during the last five years have been—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 3rd June 1909, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Pressure was relatively low over the Bay and there was not the usual inflow of moist air into northeast India, where rainfall was in consequence much less than usual. The low pressure conditions referred to became more marked on the 1st June, but up to the end of the week no storm had formed. Scattered falls of rain due in most cases to thunderstorms and duststorms occurred in northwest and central India and the peninsula, but on the 2nd an advance of the monsoon took place in the south of the Arabian Sea and moderately heavy rain was reported from Malabar. Rainfall extended northwards along the west coast during the next twenty-four hours and nearly general rain fell in the Bombay Deccan.

Temperature was somewhat in excess in upper India during the greater part of the week, the highest temperature recorded being 116½° at Jacobabad.

Burma.—Rain fell in all parts of the province. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded. Temperature was normal or in defect, the deficiency occurring chiefly in the central districts, where the rainfall was unusually heavy.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall occurred over a large area on the 28th, but during the rest of the week it was only local: no rain fell in south Bihar and Chota Nagpur. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was approximately normal.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Light falls of rain were reported from Sutna, Indore, Akola, Seoni, Pendra, Nagpur, Raipur, Bahraich, Benares and Gorakhpur. Skies were clear or lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was nearly normal, except for a defect in the east of the United Provinces on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd June.

Northwest India.—Rain fell in Kashmir and at Quetta, Peshawar and Sialkot. Skies were cloudy in Baluchistan and Sind on the 28th May and the 1st June, and in the extreme north on the 1st and 2nd June. Temperature was in excess in upper India up to the 2nd June when a fall took place; on the 3rd temperature was in defect throughout the division except in Rajputana and Gujarat.

The Peninsula.—Scattered falls of rain occurred in all parts of the division: on the 2nd an advance of the monsoon gave moderately heavy rain in Malabar and rainfall was more widespread on the next day. Skies were lightly to heavily clouded, a marked increase in cloud showing itself on the 1st. Temperature was normal or in defect.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

May 28th. Tavoy 3·65", Diamond Island 2·32", Toungoo 3·30", Minbu 1·32" and Berhampore 2·51".

" 29th. Mandalay 1·52".

" 30th. Malegaon 2·86".

" 31st. Moulmein 3·28", Mandalay 1·55" and Cuddapah 2·02".

June 1st. Akyab 2·07", Monywa 3·97" and Maymyo 2·37".

" 2nd. Yamethin 1·66", Mandalay 1·60", Barisal 4·43", Belgaum 2·30", Cochin 3·55" and Trivandrum 2·42".

The rainfall of the week has been considerably heavier than usual in Burma and the Deccan, and the seasonal rainfall is now in excess in those regions.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 29th May 1909.

Burma.—The rainfall during the week was general; it was heavy in Tenasserim and mostly moderate elsewhere. Sowing of hillside rice and ploughing for early sesamum and cotton are progressing. Reaping of spring rice continues in parts of Upper Burma Ploughing for early autumn rice is now fairly general. Damage by excessive rain to dry weather rice is reported in one township of Katha while crops are said to be bad in another; otherwise the condition of standing crops is good. The price of unhusked rice has fallen considerably at one centre and slightly at three others; it has risen slightly at two centres.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall was less heavy during the week and the temperature has risen Prospects of crops have improved. Sowing of winter rice is in progress. The preparatory cultivation of fields for millet in the hills and weeding of jute and rice in the plains continue. The average price of common rice is practically the same as last week. The number of persons employed on test relief works is:—519 in Dinajpur 300 in Rangpur; and 164 in Bogra. The number of persons on gratuitous relief is:—1,83[illegible] in Dinajpur and 87 in Rangpur. Cattle disease is prevalent in Dacca, Backarganj, Rajshahi Dinajpur, Pabna, Malda, Sylhet, the Khasi, Naga and Garo Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang and Nowgong.

Bengal.—The rain during the week was general in all districts, Patna, Gaya, Darbhanga and Palamau excepted. In the Patna, Tirhoot and Chota Nagpur divisions the fall was very light and in all other districts it was moderate. The recent rain is reported to have facilitated agricultural operations in Champaran and Howrah. Sowing of jute paddy and other autumn crops are in progress and the preparation of lands for the next season's crops continues. In parts of Darbhanga cultivation is being retarded for want of moisture. Early sown makai in Patna and autumn crops in Monghyr are suffering for want of rain. Sugarcane and vegetable are doing well. There was a severe hailstorm in Thana Belsand in the Muzaffarpur district. The price of common rice has risen in Jessore Patna, Muzaffarpur, the Sonthal Parganas and Palamau, has fallen in Midnapore, Hooghly, Nadia, Gaya, Monghyr and Puri, and has been stationary in the remaining districts. The fodder and water supply is fairly adequate but in parts of Jessore, Gaya and the Sonthal Parganas some scarcity has been felt in this respect. Cattle disease is reported from Burdwan, Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Gaya, Champaran, Monghyr, Purnea, Balasore, Angul, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau. 747 persons were on test works in Muzaffarpur and Bhagalpur and 46,641 persons attended famine relief works in Darbhanga. Gratuitous relief was given to 37,365 persons in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga Bhagalpur, Purnea, Puri and Palamau.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 10th June 1909, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

A depression formed in Orissa at the eastern end of the trough of low pressure on the 5th, and moved slowly westwards to the neighbourhood of Benares. It then changed its course and advanced in an eastnortheasterly direction, being near Purnea at the close of the week. It was the cause of very heavy rain in Bihar and the northern districts of Eastern Bengal, and moderately heavy general rain over the rest of northeast India and in the east of the United Provinces. Local falls of rain occurred in the central parts of the country, east Rajputana and along the Himalayas as far west as Lahore. The monsoon in the Arabian Sea continued to give rain on the west coast of the peninsula, but with the exception of a few falls in the Deccan rainfall failed to penetrate into the interior districts of the peninsula, nor did it extend further north than Bombay in the coast districts. Rainfall was of daily occurrence in Burma and was reported from all parts of the province.

Owing to the rainfall temperature was unusually low in Bihar, Chota Nagpur and the adjoining districts of the United Provinces. A maximum of 122·6° was registered at Jacobabad, the highest recorded this year.

Burma.—Rainfall occurred everywhere and was heavy on the Arakan coast. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded and temperature was normal or in defect.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall was general and in parts heavy, especially in the northern districts. Skies were heavily clouded. Day temperature was in moderate to large defect in the province of Bengal.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rain was nearly general in the east of the United Provinces and local falls occurred in other parts of the division. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded. During the last four days of the week temperature was in defect everywhere except in the southwestern districts, and the deficiency was moderate to very large in the United Provinces and the east of Central India.

Northwest India.—Rain fell in the hills and submontane districts of the Punjab and at Jaipur, Kotah and Ahmedabad. Skies were clear except in the eastern and southern districts. The maximum temperatures reported on the 8th and 9th were in defect in parts of the Punjab and of Rajputana; on the remaining days temperature was everywhere either normal or in excess.

The Peninsula.—General rain fell on the west coast and local rain in the Deccan. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded. Temperature was normal or in defect.

E

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 5th June 1909.

Burma.—Fairly heavy rain fell in most places and was well distributed. Sowing of hill side rice and ploughing for early sesamum, cotton and maize are progressing. Ploughing for the winter rice crop is almost general. Reaping of spring rice in Upper Burma is approaching completion. Sowing of early sesamum has been retarded by the recent heavy rains in Meiktila and Yamethin. The condition of standing crops is good except in parts of three districts where some damage was done owing to the excessive rainfall. The price of paddy has risen considerably in two districts and slightly in one; it has fallen considerably in one district.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—There was good rain during the week but heavier showers are wanted in Rajshahi. Tea also requires more rain. Sowing and transplantation of winter rice continue. Harvesting of early autumn rice in places in the plains and of potato in the hills has commenced. Weeding of jute and rice is nearly finished. Prospects of standing crops are good. The average price of common rice has risen by about 1 per cent. The numbers on test relief works are:—774 in Dinajpur; 100 in Rangpur; and 34 in Bogra. There are [illegible]15 persons on gratuitous relief in Dinajpur; 102 in Rangpur; and 34 in Bogra. Cattle disease is prevalent in several districts.

Bengal.—The rainfall during the week was general throughout the Province. It was heavy in parts of Bankura, Hooghly, Howrah, the 24-Parganas, Jessore, Darjeeling and Puri and moderate elsewhere. Although agricultural operations have been temporarily retarded in parts of Burdwan and Bankura by continuous rain, prospects have much improved in Bihar. Ploughing of lands is being pushed on vigorously in parts of Jessore and Patna. More rain is required. Sowings of autumn crops and of winter rice are in progress. Weeding of jute has commenced. Sugarcane is doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Midnapore, Hooghly, Nadia, Jessore, Shahabad, Darbhanga, Monghyr and Manbhum; has fallen in Howrah, Patna, Muzaffarpur, Balasore, Palamau and Cooch Behar; and has been stationary in the remaining districts. Supplies of fodder and water are adequate except in parts of Jessore and Gaya. Cattle disease is reported from several districts. 589 persons were on test works in Muzaffarpur and Bhagalpur and 45,407 persons attended the famine relief works in Darbhanga. Gratuitous relief was given to 38,134 persons in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Puri and Palamau.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—District Darbhanga—workers exclusive of dependants 45,407; on gratuitous relief—(a) dependants of workers 13,423; (b) in poorhouses or kitchens 2,486; and (c) on village doles or other relief 15,514; total gratuitously relieved 31,423. Grand total on relief 76,830. The numbers on relief works show a slight decrease. Workers are in fair condition. Want of rain is hindering the progress of cultivating operations in the Sadar sub-division and in parts of the Madhubani sub-division. No general emaciation is noticeable and there is no wandering. Prices 11 to 11½ seers per rupee.

United Provinces.—Rain fell during the week in places; the fall was heavy in thirty-five districts. Irrigation of extra crops and sugarcane continues. Preparation of fields for autumn sowings which have begun in parts is in progress. Supplies of fodder and water are adequate. Cattle disease is reported from twenty-two districts but the general condition of agricultural stock is good. Prices are on the whole stationary.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The condition of people on relief is good. Crime is below normal. Three civil and five aided works and one unaided work are in progress and one poorhouse is open in Bijaigarh; one civil and three aided works in Kera Mangraur; and nine aided works in Jaunpur. The departmental work was closed from the 5th instant in Basti where distress is disappearing. District Board and forest works are in progress in Garhwal. There is a slight increase in the number on relief in Garhwal, Kheri and Bahraich and a slight decrease elsewhere. The numbers on Government relief are:—on relief works 16,513; on aided works 8,570; on test works in Kheri 586; on gratuitous relief 8,059; in poorhouses 137; on private works 120; total on relief 34,585. Prices:—Garhwal 9; Kheri and Bahraich 14; Bijaigarh and Kera Mangraur 15; and Basti 16.

Punjab.—Light rain was received during the week in parts of Hissar, Rohtak, Ambala, Jullundur, Ludhiana, Ferozepore, Sialkot, Shahpur, Rawalpindi, Mianwali, Jhang and Multan. Wheat is being threshed. Its outturn is generally good to average on irrigated areas and average to below the average on unirrigated areas. Sowings of autumn crops continue in several districts. Standing extra spring and autumn crops are generally in good condition. Melons have been slightly damaged by insects in Gujranwala and Shahpur. Prices are high and have risen slightly in some districts. Cattle are generally in good condition. Fodder is sufficient except in Delhi.

North-West Frontier Province.—The rainfall during the week, in cents, was:—9 in Peshawar, 55 in Kohat and 11 in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of standing extra spring and autumn crops is generally good on irrigated areas and from average to below the average on unirrigated lands. Spring crops [redacted] threshed and the outturn is reported to be average. Tobacco is also being [redacted] in the Swabi tahsil of the Peshawar districts. Sowings of autumn crops [redacted] The water supply in canals is sufficient. Irrigation from the Paharp[redacted] the Dera Ismail Khan district continues. Fodder is scarce in the Marwat [redacted] of the Bannu district; it is procurable elsewhere. The condition of cattle is ge[redacted]ally good except that cattle disease is reported in some villages. The public health is generally good. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 10¼ to 12¾; gram 13⅝ to 15; maize 14$\frac{1}{16}$ to 17¾; and bajra 13 to 14¼ seers per rupee.

H. A. STUART,

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 24th June 1909, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The trough of low pressure in northern India lay close against the hills during the greater part of the week, and the Bay monsoon current was in consequence restricted almost entirely to Burma and northeast India where it gave fairly general rain. During this period the Arabian Sea current was directed towards the western and central Himalayas and caused rainfall in the Punjab and the United Provinces: it was very weak in other parts of its field and occasioned only light showers on the west coast and in the central parts of the country. On the 22nd conditions changed. The trough of low pressure began to move away from the hills, and there was at the same time a marked decrease in the strength of the Bay monsoon, which gave very little rain for the rest of the week in any part of its field. While these changes were in progress in the north, the Arabian Sea monsoon strengthened on the Malabar coast and moderately heavy rainfall extended northwards along the west coast. On the 24th the Arabian Sea monsoon was re-established in the peninsula and was beginning to give rain in the interior districts, and nearly all observatories in the Central Provinces reported rain on that morning.

Burma.—Rain fell in all parts of the province, except in some of the central districts. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded, and temperature was normal.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Every station received rain. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded except in the western districts where cloud was often only light. Temperature was approximately normal.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rainfall occurred at most stations except in the west of Central India and of the Central Provinces, and was heaviest in the northwest of the United Provinces. Skies were clear or lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was in defect in the northwest of the United Provinces on most days of the week, but was nearly normal elsewhere.

Northwest India.—Rain fell over the greater part of the Punjab and at some stations in Kashmir and the east of Gujarat. Skies were clear or lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was normal or in defect, the deficiency being largest in the Punjab where it occurred chiefly in the daytime.

The Peninsula.—Rainfall was restricted almost entirely to the west coast, and even there on most days of the week it was only light; a few falls occurred in the Bombay Deccan and Hyderabad, but there was practically no rain in the remainder of the peninsula. Cloud was generally light except towards the close of the week when it increased on the west coast. Temperature did not differ much from the normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

June 18th. Shillong 3·00", Cherra Poonjee 9·66", Mymensingh 4·54" and Delhi 1·55".

„ 22nd. Sholapur 3·53".

„ 23rd. Lashio 2·78", Bhamo 2·04", Seoni 1·57", Bombay 3·05" and Ratnagiri 3·18".

„ 24th. Silchar 3·13", Mainpuri 2·58", Akola 2·53", Ratnagiri 3·21", Aurangabad 1·83" and Hyderabad (Deccan) 1·93".

The week's rainfall was much heavier than usual in the southwest of the Punjab and the large deficiency shown there in seasonal rainfall a week ago has disappeared. Over the rest of the country the rainfall of the week has been generally either nearly normal or in defect, and in a number of divisions the excess shown last week in seasonal rainfall has either disappeared altogether or has decreased considerably.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 19th June 1909.

Burma.—Good rain fell everywhere except in the dry zone where there was practically none. Sowing of hill side rice is nearing completion. Ploughing for the main rice crop is progressing satisfactorily and sowing has commenced in places. In Upper Burma reaping of early summer rice is approaching completion and cultivation of cotton, early sesamum and miscellaneous crops is well in hand. Standing crops are in good condition. The price of unhusked rice has risen slightly in four districts and has fallen slightly in one.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall during the week was general and well distributed. More sun is wanted for tea in Jalpaiguri and Lakhimpur. Rivers are rising rapidly in flood and the water has submerged standing crops in low-lying tracts. Crops on high land have greatly benefited by the recent rains. Harvesting of early jute and linseed has commenced and that of autumn rice in the plains and potato in the hills is in progress. Sowing of winter rice and transplanting of autumn rice and sugarcane continue. The average price of common rice has risen by about 1 per cent. The test relief works in Dinajpur and Bogra have been closed and those in Rangpur were not attended. 14 persons in Rangpur and 69 in Bogra received gratuitous relief. Cattle disease prevails in several districts.

Bengal.—The rainfall during the week was general and was again heavy in the Tirhut division as well as in parts of Midnapore, the 24-Parganas, Jessore, Khulna and Cooch Behar. Cultivation and sowings on low lands in Howrah, Patna and Muzaffarpur have been retarded. Transplantation of paddy has commenced in Burdwan, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Cuttack, Balasore and Cooch Behar but it had to be stopped in parts of Burdwan for want of rain. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Jute and sugarcane are doing well Damage by insect pests to autumn paddy is reported from Nadia and Jessore. Floods have done some injury to jute, sugarcane, til and aman paddy in the Kandi sub-division of the Murshidabad district and to maize and [illegible] in Purnea. The price of common rice has risen in Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Gaya, Shahabad, Saran, Muzaffarpur and Puri and has fallen in Hooghly, Champaran and Bhagalpur. Cattle disease is reported from several districts. The fodder and water supply is sufficient throughout the Province. The test works in Muzaffarpur have been closed. Figures for Bhagalpur have not been received. The number of persons on gratuitous relief in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Purnea and Palamau was 27,517 and 9,559 persons attended the famine relief works in Darbhanga.

Wheat is still being threshed in Ferozepore, Amritsar and Rawalpindi. Tobacco is being reaped in Ludhiana and Amritsar. Sowings of autumn crops continue. The recent rain has benefited the standing extra spring and autumn crops which are generally in good condition. Cotton has been slightly damaged by insects in parts of Multan. Prices are high and have risen slightly in some districts. Cattle are generally in good condition. Fodder is sufficient except in Delhi.

North-West Frontier Province.—G[illegible]d rain averaging over an inch fell during the week in the Mardan tahsil of the Peshawar district and the Marwat tahsil of the Bannu district and was beneficial to standing crops. The condition of standing crops is good in Peshawar and average in Dera Ismail Khan. Sowings of autumn crops are in progress in Peshawar and have commenced in Dera Ismail Khan. The outturn of harvested crops is average in Dera Ismail Khan. Harvesting of wheat is finished in Peshawar. The health of people is good except in the Charsadda tahsil of the Peshawar district. Cattle [illegible]sease is prevalent in the Peshawar and Nowshera tahsils of the Peshawar district and i[illegible]e Bannu district. Fodder is procurable. Irrigation from canals is sufficient. Sowing of autumn crops continues throughout the Provinces but operations were retarded for want of more rain in Hoshangabad, Nimar, Chhindwara and Nagpur. Germination of rice is successful in Drug and Bilaspur but is not satisfactory in the Brahmapura tahsil of the Chanda district. Fodder and water are adequate. Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 154-Financial, dated 13th November 1908.

The Governor General in Council has for some time had under consideration a scheme for encouraging public servants in India to make prudential savings.

2. After a careful consideration of the whole subject and full discussion with Local Governments it has been decided, with the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to establish a General Provident Fund, subscription to which shall be compulsory in certain cases, as indicated in the attached rules, and which shall be open to all Government servants in superior service with the exception of (a) European members of the Indian Civil Service, (b) subscribers to the State Railway Provident Fund, and (c) any class of officers for whom a compulsory family pension fund has already been established.

3. The rules under which the Fund will for the present be conducted are attached to this Resolution. The Governor General in Council desires that a wide circulation may be given to these rules among all classes of officers affected by the institution of the Fund.

4. Subscriptions to the Fund should first be made on salaries becoming due on the 1st of August 1909.

Ordered that this Resolution be communicated to the several Departments of the Government of India; to all Local Governments and Administrations; to the Comptroller and Auditor-General and to all Accountants General and Comptrollers; and to the Heads of Departments subordinate to the Finance Department.

Ordered also that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

RULES REGULATING THE GENERAL PROVIDENT FUND.

Scope of Fund.

The fund will be a general fund open to all civil officers in permanent pensionable posts in service which is superior within the meaning of Article 397 of the Civil Service Regulations; but it shall not be open to European members of the Indian Civil Service, subscribers to the State Railway Provident Fund, or any class of officers for whom a compulsory family pension fund has already been established.

Conditions of membership of new fund; closure of existing Provident funds.

2. As regards officers in the service of Government at the date of the institution of the new fund:—

(a) Officers in whose case subscription to an existing service fund is optional, or who are not entitled to subscribe to such a fund, will be permitted to join the new fund as optional subscribers at any time.

(b) Officers in whose case subscription to an existing fund is compulsory will be permitted to join the new fund as compulsory subscribers at any time within two years after its institution.

(c) When subscribers to an existing fund join the new fund, their accounts with the existing fund including any liability for the refund of advances, will be transferred to the new fund.

(d) Officers who join the new fund, whether as compulsory or as optional subscribers, will cease to be eligible to subscribe to any existing Provident fund, with effect from the date of joining the fund.

(e) The rules applicable to subscribers to existing funds who do not exercise the option of joining the new fund will remain unchanged but all existing funds will be closed to new subscribers with effect from the date of the institution of the new fund.

3. As regards officers entering the service of Government after the institution of the new fund,—

(a) Subscription to the new fund will be compulsory in the case of all Europeans and Eurasians on attaining a substantive pay of Rs. 100 a month or more.

(b) All Europeans and Eurasians drawing less than Rs. 100 a month, and all Natives of India, will be permitted to join the new fund as optional subscribers.

(c) The existing service funds specified below will be absolutely closed to future entrants into Government service, namely, the Civil Engineers Provident Fund and the Provident Funds of the Finance, Police, Geological Survey, Opium, Northern India Salt Revenue, Forest and Civil Veterinary Departments.

4. If an officer, who is entitled to subscribe to the new fund, is on foreign service, he shall be subject to these rules except where otherwise stated in the same manner as if he were not so transferred.

5. In the case of all officers the privilege of optional subscription will lapse if subscriptions are discontinued (otherwise than on leave) more than three times. In the event of such a lapse of subscription no right to withdrawal of the sum at credit of the subscriber will be recognised other than is provided for in rule 10.

Rate of interest.

6 Compound interest at 4 per cent will be allowed on subscriptions; but Government reserve the right to reduce this rate at any time for officers who become subscribers to the fund after Government have announced their intention of reducing the rate.

Rate of subscription.

7. The monthly subscription must be not less than 6¼ per cent and not more than 12½ per cent on the salary of each subscriber for the month. If the officer is on foreign service, the subscription will be calculated on his assumed pay.

Within these limits a subscriber may alter his rate of subscription with effect from the beginning of any financial year, by giving notice before the end of the preceding year.

Subscription during leave.

8. Subscriptions on leave of any kind will be optional. Subject to the limits of 6¼ and 12½ per cent they will be calculated on the allowances admissible during leave.

Realization of subscriptions.

9. Subscriptions will be recovered by deduction from pay-bills, but they may be made by remittance in cash to the Audit Office when an officer is in foreign service, or is on leave and draws his leave allowances from a Colonial Treasury.

When a subscriber draws his leave allowances from the Home Treasury of the Government of India, his subscriptions may be paid by deductions from leave allowances, the remittances to India being effected by means of the remittance account between England and India, and the credit to the officer's account in the Fund in respect of such remittances being given at the rate of fifteen rupees to the £1.

An officer who desires to subscribe during leave must notify his intention beforehand in order to allow of the deductions from his leave allowances being noted in his leave and pay certificate. He will not be permitted to discontinue subscribing during leave.

Withdrawal on retirement.

10. (1) Subject to the provisions of this rule, the sum which accumulates to the credit of the officer will be his absolute property to be handed over to him unconditionally on quitting the service. In the event of his death before retirement (a) it will be divided between his widow or widows and children in accordance with any request that he may have submitted in the prescribed form, which request must state the person to whom sums intended for the benefit of minors are to be paid; (b) failing such a request it will be divided in equal shares between his widow or widows and children, to the exclusion of adult sons and of married daughters whose husbands are alive, any sum due to a minor being paid to the minor's legal guardian to be used for the minor's benefit, or, failing a legal guardian, to any person who, in the opinion of the officer whose duty it is to make payment, is entitled to receive it on the minor's behalf; (c) failing a widow and children entitled to participate under (b) it will be distributed among other persons in accordance with any request submitted by the subscriber in the prescribed form; and (d) if no such request has been submitted it will be paid to the legal representative of the estate, as determined by a civil court having competence to pass orders in this respect.

(2) Government will not be bound by, or recognise, any assignment or trust executed or attempted to be created by any officer during his service.

(3) The sum at credit of the officer is not liable to forfeiture on dismissal or on conviction by a Criminal Court except for an offence for which the penalty of forfeiture of the whole of the offender's property is prescribed by law.

Advances for special purposes.

11. No final withdrawal will be allowed until the subscriber quits the service or dies. But when the pecuniary circumstances of a subscriber are such that the indulgence is absolutely necessary, a temporary advance not ordinarily exceeding three months' pay may be allowed from the sum at his credit at the discretion of the sanctioning authority, who shall be—

(i) the Local Government, for gazetted officers;

(ii) the head of the Department, for non-gazetted officers in receipt of Rs. 100 per mensem or over;

(iii) the head of the office, for other officers.

The following may be recognized as legitimate occasions for advances :—

(b) to pay for the passage of any member of a subscriber's family coming from beyond the sea to join him, or requiring to make a journey beyond the sea from some urgent cause;

(c) to pay expenses in connection with marriages, funerals, or ceremonies which by the religion of the subscriber it is incumbent upon him to perform and in connection with which it is obligatory that expenditure should be incurred.

Advances will be recovered at the discretion of the sanctioning authority, in not less than twelve instalments or more than twenty-four. Recoveries will commence from the first payment of a full month's salary after the advance is granted or (in the case of advances to an officer going on leave) after the officer's return from leave. The instalments will be paid by compulsory deductions from salary, and will be in addition to the usual subscription.

Yearly advice to depositors.

16. As soon as possible after the close of each year, each depositor will receive a statement of his account with interest made up to 31st March. Depositors are required to satisfy themselves as to the correctness of these statements; and unless errors in them are brought to the notice of the officer rendering the account within one month from the date of their receipt, Government will not be responsible for any sums not thus acknowledged.

17. Any depositor may, once in the official year, but not oftener, receive, on application to the Account Officer concerned, a copy of his account for the last official year and for so many months of the current year as may have been posted and agreed.

18. When under rule 12 of these rules, a subscriber is permitted to pay from the sum at his credit in the provident fund, premia upon a policy of insurance or subscriptions to a recognized pension fund, the sanctioning authority shall indicate in consultation with the account officer, the exact account procedure to be followed.

Illustration.—If an officer paying 10 Rs. a month to the Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund becomes under rule 3 liable to pay 10 Rs. a month to the General Provident Fund, but does not desire that the total monthly deduction from his salary shall exceed 10 Rs., he may be allowed simply to deduct 10 Rs. per month from his pay on account of the Family Pension Fund.

19. The Account Officer concerned will endeavour to secure by the issue of reminders that all depositors shall fill in the prescribed form the "request" provided for in Rule 10 1(a) of the rules.

If the telegram is cancelled before having reached the office of destination, the charges for the original telegram, for the Service Advice of cancellation, and for any telegraphic reply prepaid to such Advice in respect of the distance not traversed, will be refunded to the Sender on application to the Superintendent, Check Office, Government Telegraph Department, Calcutta."

In India, Foreign telegrams are classed as "Express" and are delivered at any hour of receipt, provided the office of destination is open for traffic at the time. They are delivered free of charge within five miles of a Telegraph office. Beyond that limit, the post is employed, without charge, unless a special means of delivery has been paid for by the Sender, or requested by the Addressee (Rule 309 (a))."

In all other cases, the notice is re-directed by post in the form of a letter, if the Sender is known. In India, Advices of non-delivery which are to be posted are posted free of charge. The receiver of a notice of non-delivery can only complete, rectify or confirm the Address of the original telegram by a paid telegram in the form of a paid Service Advice. (Rule 200)."

For Rule 262 the following shall be substituted :—

This refund is only made on the authority of the Administration which delivered the original telegram. If the telegram with deposit for reply originated in India, the refund of the unused portion is made to the Sender by the Superintendent, Check Office, Government Telegraph Department, Calcutta."

For Rule 274 the following shall be substituted :—

"274. When, from any cause, a reply paid telegram cannot be delivered, the reply telegram form remains attached to the telegram during the period of retention fixed by Rule 266. At the end of this period, the Administration of destination will initiate the refund if the amount paid is not less than ten annas. The amount of the reply telegram form is nevertheless refunded to the Sender if he apply for it before the expiration of this period. Nevertheless, the charge for the words correctly transmitted must be refunded, whatever may be the language in which the telegram is written, if the Administration concerned recognises that the mistakes made prevented the sense of the words which had not been mutilated from being understood."

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 17th June 1909, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The Arabian Sea monsoon current weakened considerably during the past week and gave very little rain in the peninsula. It was however the cause of rainfall in the central parts of the country, in Gujarat and the east of Rajputana. At the beginning of the week the trough of low pressure was well away from the hills and the Bay monsoon was thus permitted to flow westward along the Himalayas and give rain in the United Provinces and the submontane districts of northwest India. The trough however gradually moved northwards, and in consequence the Bay current was for the last three days restricted to northeast India, while the Arabian Sea current advanced northwards with the trough and ceased to give rain in the Central Provinces, but occasioned showers in the United Provinces and the east of the Punjab.

Burma.—Rainfall occurred chiefly in the coast districts. Skies were moderately clouded and temperature was normal.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell in all parts of the division, but more especially in the northern and eastern districts. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded. Temperature was normal or in defect.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rainfall occurred locally in the United Provinces and Central India, but every station received some rain during the week. In the Central Provinces it was nearly general on the 12th, 13th and 14th. Skies were moderately clouded. Maximum temperature was in defect.

Northwest India.—Rain fell at nearly all stations in the east and north of the Punjab, the east of Rajputana and in Gujarat, but the amounts recorded were generally small. Cloud was present on most days in the south of the division and the hill districts of the Punjab. Mean temperature was approximately normal.

The Peninsula.—During the first half of the week some rain fell on the west coast, in the Bombay Deccan, Hyderabad and on the north Madras coast, but towards the close of the week rainfall ceased almost entirely. Cloud decreased during the week and on the 17th skies were clear or only lightly clouded over a large part of the division. Temperature was nearly normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day :—

June 11th. Dhubri 14·50″, Gauhati 3·43″, Dinajpur 5·32″, Jalpaiguri 5·90″ and Darjeeling 4·92″.

„ 12th. Cherra Poonjee 7·08″, Jessore 2·98″, Gorakhpur 3·07″ and Bareilly 4·20″.

„ 13th. Jalpaiguri 3·76″ and Gopalpur 3·03″.

„ 14th. Dibrugarh 2·65″ and Jalpaiguri [illegible]·70″.

„ 15th. Jalpaiguri 4·19″.

„ 16th. Cherra Poonjee 12·99″, Bogra 4·[illegible]9″, Darbhanga 2·88″ [illegible] Mount Abu 5·08″.

17th. Myitkyina 4·00″, Cherra Poonjee 7·86″, Dinajpur 3·55″, Jalpaiguri 3·82″, Calcutta 3·68″, Darbhanga 3·67″ and Delhi 2·18″.

The rainfall of the past week, while largely in defect on the west coast of the peninsula and [illegible] less extent in Burma, Orissa and Chota Nagpur, was considerably heavier than usual in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, Bihar, the United Provinces, the east and north of the Punjab and the east of Rajputana. The seasonal rainfall is now in defect in the Konkan, and the excess shown last week has disappeared in Lower Burma, Orissa and Chota Nagpur. On the other hand, last week's defect has either disappeared or has been changed into an excess in the United Provinces (west), the Punjab (east and north), Rajputana (east), Berar and the Madras coast (north).

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

An examination of the available records shows that the meteorological conditions in certain areas tend to vary with the abundance and distribution of the monsoon rainfall of India. In the present year the information regarding these is as follows :—

(a) THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC AND CHILI.

2. The monthly departures of pressure at Buenos Aires (Argentine Republic) were —·2 m.m. in March, +1·1 m.m. in April and +1·5 m.m. in May. At Santiago (Chili) the corresponding departures were —·7 m.m., +·2 m.m. and +·9 m.m.

(b) AUSTRALIA.

3. The average pressure of a number of representative stations was in defect in April by ·03″ and in May by ·05″.

(c) THE INDIAN OCEAN.

4. Mauritius.—During April and May the average pressure was about ·02″ in defect. In May winds were very unsteady and of less than their normal strength, while rainfall was about 20 per cent short of the average.

Seychelles.—Mean pressure for April was below normal by ·015″ and for May by ·002.″ In the latter month winds were stronger and somewhat more easterly than usual; the total rainfall recorded during the month was only about 40 per cent of the normal quantity.

Zanzibar.—Pressure was normal in April, a[illegible] ·005″ in d[illegible] in May. Winds were more westerly than usual and below normal in intensity in May, while rainfall amounted to 4·6″, which is 5·8″ below normal.

Logs of Vessels.—According to the information furnished by vessels pa[illegible] through the equatorial belt during May the air movement was not c[illegible]terized by any conspicuously abnormal features. In the Indian Seas a temp[illegible] advance of monsoon winds occurred during the first fortnight and resulted in [illegible] formation of two storms in the Bay of Bengal. The first of these travelled westwa[illegible]s across southern India into the Arabian Sea, while the second advanced to the Arakan coast. The character of the storms would appear to show that the advance resulting in their production was a fairly vigorous one.

(d) AFRICA.

5. Natal.—Pressure was in defect in April by ·01″ and in May by ·02″. Rainfall was in moderate defect in April and unusually heavy in May : the rainy season began early.

6. Nyassaland.—There have been no abnormal features in the weather of April or May.

7. Uganda Protectorate.—Rainfall was in great excess in April and slightly deficient in May.

8. Northeast Africa.—Pressure was on the whole above normal in April in Egypt and the Soudan but below it in the first half of May, the summer conditions of pressure and wind starting a fortnight earlier than usual. Rainfall in Abyssinia and the southern Soudan has been in excess and the rise of the Nile has taken place before the usual date.

(e) INDIA.

9. The average pressure during 1908 was normal. In May 1909 its departure was —·002″, and the only feature in the geographical distribution of pressure was a slight excess in Sind.

(f) SNOWFALL DATA FOR THE PERIOD DECEMBER 1908 TO MAY 1909.

10. (a) Judging from the scanty information available the snowfall was on the whole heavier and continued longer than usual in Afghanistan and possibly also in parts of Persia.

(b) In Baluchistan the precipitation was in excess of the normal in February and April, and in defect in the other months of the season. In the last week of February snow lay thickly on the hills as far down as Pishin where it had not been seen for years. Temperature was in marked defect at Chaman during the greater part of May, and this would suggest the occurrence of snowfall in Afghanistan and the neighbouring mountain region.

(c) In the North-West Frontier Province the snowfall was excessive in December and normal or below it during the rest of the period.

(d) In Kashmir the snowfall was deficient throughout except in December and February.

(e) In the Punjab Himalayas the snowfall was fairly normal in amount during the period December to March and was in excess in April. The April fall in Kulu was regarded as the heaviest on record for that locality during the past 40 years; but notwithstanding this the snow accumulations at the end of the month were by no means as great as usual. In May several falls occurred on elevations above 10,000 feet; the total quantity received was as much as 6 feet on the Sach pass.

(f) In the Kumaon Himalayas the snowfall was greater than usual in December, January and April and below normal in the other three months. On the average of the whole period the snowfall conditions did not differ largely from the normal.

(g) The information regarding the eastern Himalayas is as usual limited; it shows, however, that the snowfall there was not above the average.

On the whole it may be said that the total snowfall up to the present has not been excessive except in Afghanistan, and that the accumulations in the Himalayan region are now probably not quite so deep as usual at this time.

INFERENCES.

11. Past experience, examined by statistical methods, shows that the most important indications regarding monsoon rainfall are afforded by the pressure conditions in South America and in the Indian Ocean, and these for the past two months have been decidedly favourable, pressure being above normal at Buenos Aires and Chili, and below normal in Australia, at Mauritius, Zanzibar, Seychelles and Durban. Next in importance comes the character of the snowfall, which when late and excessive is unfavourable to the monsoon, especially in northwest India, and is usually associated with heavy rain at Zanzibar and Seychelles. There was accordingly cause for anxiety in the second half of April when two depressions of the cold weather type caused snowfall in the mountain regions and were preceded by a large excess of rain at Zanzibar: but since that time no snowfall of any significance has occurred, the previous accumulations have diminished under the sun's heat to a quantity that is normal or less, and the rainfall at Seychelles and Zanzibar has only been of about half the ordinary amount.

12. There have been during the past five weeks temporary advances of the monsoon both in the Arabian Sea and in the Bay of Bengal. That on the Bombay side which has given moderate to heavy rain on the Malabar coast since the 2nd June is extending northwards with considerable slowness, so that the Arabian Sea current appears to be as yet either somewhat later or weaker than the average of the past 30 years. On the other hand the present advance up the Gangetic plain shows that the Bay current is either earlier or stronger than usual. That such early advances are not in themselves prejudicial is shown by the fact that they occurred in 1889 and 1892, both years of good rainfall.

13. The impression that the rainfall in the northern portion of the Arabian Sea monsoon may be somewhat weaker than that in the field of the Bay current is slightly strengthened by the recent excess of pressure in Sind, which may tend to diminish the rainfall in north-west India and be aided by any recrudescence of the snowfall which occurred in April.

SUMMARY.

(a). The general conditions are such as have, in a decided majority of years, been followed by a total monsoon rainfall of more than the average amount.

(b). The indications regarding the geographical distribution are by no means well marked, but suggest that the outlook for the plains of northwest India during the earlier part of the season is somewhat less favourable than that for the field of the Bay current.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 12th June 1909.

Burma.—The rainfall during the week was general and seasonable; it was heavy along the littoral and mostly moderate in the interior. Sowing of hill side rice is approaching completion. Ploughing for the main rice crop is now general and sowing has begun in places. In Upper Burma reaping of spring rice has nearly been completed and ploughing and sowing for miscellaneous cultivation on uplands is advancing satisfactorily. The condition of standing crops in Upper Burma is, on the whole, good but some damage was done by the heavy rains in parts of Mandalay, Yamethin, Kyaukse and the Southern Shan States. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably in two districts and slightly in two others; it has fallen slightly in two districts.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall during the week was general and heavy. Prospects of all crops have improved except that of tea. Sowing of winter rice and transplantation of autumn rice and sugarcane are in progress. Harvesting of early autumn crops has commenced in the plains and that of potato continues in the hills. The average price of common rice has risen by about 3 per cent. There are no persons on test relief works in Rangpur and Bogra and the figures for Dinajpur have not been reported. There are 19 persons on gratuitous relief in Rangpur and 52 in Bogra. Cattle disease is prevalent in several districts.

Bengal.—The rainfall during the week was general all over the Province, the fall being very heavy in Bihar and also in Birbhum, Darjeeling and Cooch Behar. 19·04 inches fell at Darjeeling and 36·35 inches at Cooch Behar. In North Bihar [illegible] in the Bhagalpur division as well as in parts of Birbham, Murshidabad, Jessore, P[illegible] Shahabad and Sambalpur the rainfall varied from 7·18 to 15·35 inches. The r[illegible] rain has temporarily retarded agricultural work in parts of Bankura, Champaran, Pur[illegible] and the Sonthal Parganas but will be very beneficial for ploughing and sowing. Prospects of standing crops have improved. Jute and sugarcane are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Bankura, Midnapore, Hooghly, the 24-Parganas, Gaya, Champaran, Monghyr, the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore and Sambalpur and has fallen in Nadia and Jessore. Cattle disease is prevalent in several districts. Supplies of fodder and water are adequate. The difficulties regarding the water supply in North Bihar have been fully relieved by the recent rain. The test works in Muzaffarpur were not attended owing to the heavy rain. 511 persons were on test works in Bhagalpur. In Darbhanga 3,324 persons attended famine relief works as against 45,407 persons in the previous week. This large reduction was due to the heavy rainfall. Gratuitous relief was given to 29,37[illegible] persons in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea and Palamau.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—District Darbhanga—workers exclusive of dependants 3,324; on gratuitous relief—(a) dependants of workers 2,884; (b) in poorhouses or kitchens 1,769; and (c) on village doles or other relief 15,300; total gratuitously relieved 19,953. Grand total on relief 23,277. The figures for the Rosera charge have not been received. The number of workers is very small owing to the heavy rainfall throughout the week, from 10 to 17 inches having fallen in various parts of the affected area. Agricultural prospects have improved immensely. Tanks have been filled with water, rendering further work on them impossible. Relief works are being closed up rapidly in the Madhubani subdivision. In the Sadar subdivision relief works will still be required for some time and suitable works are being arranged for. There is also a large decrease in the number of dependants of workers owing to the rain. The rise in prices continues. Prices 11 to 11¼ seers per rupee.

United Provinces.—Rain fell during the week almost everywhere; the fall was considerable in all districts Autumn sowings are now in progress in many districts. Standing crops are in good condition. Supplies of fodder and water are adequate. Cattle disease is reported from eighteen districts but agricultural stock are generally in good condition. Prices are generally stationary.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The condition of persons on relief continues good. Crime is normal or below normal.
